It will be seen by our American dispatches that Roberts and his co-conspirators are still using the Fenian trials to rouse the feelings of the people and bring in fresh contributions in money.

While alluding to the disposition to be made of the condemned Fenians, some time ago we stated our conviction that on account of the international character of their offence, the question was more often Imperial than Colonial one.

Another fatal accident—A man named Peltier, in the employ of J. McLaren & Co., on the Gatineau, undertook to cook a loaf of bread, giving way before he expected, fell and killed him instantly, leaving his intestines through his mouth.

Accident on the Gatineau—At the Six Portages, one Thomas Miller, while cutting shingles the other day, cut his knee so badly that he will be a cripple for life. He was taken in a cart to the village of Wakefield, at the mouth of the Peche, where he was attended by Dr. Wright.

Another fatal accident—On Friday a young Frenchman, in the employ of Mr. Patterson, was killed by the falling of a tree. The deceased in company with two other men was driving a yoke of oxen through the woods, when a tree, blown down by the wind, which was very high at the time, fell on him. He lived but a few seconds. The other men escaped, as did the oxen.

The New Barracks—A portion of the Champagne Hotel repairs has been pushed forward at a rapid rate by Mr. Jas. Goodwin, the contractor. So much so that on Saturday preparations were being made for the reception of another company and the band of the 10th regiment, who are expected to arrive here to-morrow evening.

Another Accidental Death—A person named St. Denis, in the employ of Gilmore & Co., was killed last week by Blue Sky Lake. He was in the following manner: A large log had fallen and lodged in the branches of another tree, in such a manner as to make it dangerous to attempt to saw it, and the foreman warned the man against it, but the deceased and another man volunteered to do it, and poor St. Denis paid the penalty of his temerity with his life.

Brilliant Meteoric Display Observed at Troy. On the 14th inst. at 10 o'clock last evening, a meteor of most brilliant appearance, and about the size of a twenty-five degree star, came directly from the constellation of Orion, and travelled westward until its disappearance. This light was accompanied by coruscations that abundantly glittered along its entire length.

At eleven o'clock, another brilliant meteor of the first magnitude, shot from the ball of Orion, traversed about forty-five degrees of the horizon, accompanied with nebulous light, similar to that which cometary bodies exhibit. It came from the constellation of Orion, and travelled in a southerly direction, leaving a long tail.

During the evening, up to half past twelve o'clock, seven of these meteors, mostly from the constellation Orion, were observed in the direction. These were all of the first magnitude, and traversed south with long tails.

At a quarter to one o'clock, a very large meteor, of the first magnitude, passed in a southerly direction, leaving a long tail, and phosphorescent light, appeared at the end of the Sickle, and instantly passed north, marked with all the colors of the rainbow.
