It is easily given to every, and safe in all cases, and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

In fact it has been used by us, by removing from the sinews the engorged lymph, or that secretion which in horses often comes, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the different parts of the body, it has been found to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is greatly increased, the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.
