OTTAWA, APRIL 6, 1867.

"Oh! what a falling off there!" There is something exceedingly wrong in the organizing movement.

While the gas question is before the public, through the favor of the directors of the Ottawa Gas Company, it may not be uninteresting to our readers to know a little of the movements going on elsewhere with the view of cheapening the cost of artificial light.

A late number of the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser has an article on "Petroleum-gas." This gas is produced from the residuum of petroleum with calcium, the metallic base of lime.

The Clarksville Convention on this subject says: "Now let us compare these facts with some data from Great Britain. In that country, where gas works are in operation for making gas from coal. In these three places there are in the aggregate 13 retorts, 12 by 30 inches in diameter and 4 feet long, weighing each 1,200 lbs., while at St. Nicholas retorts weigh only 700 lbs.

Another fire at Quebec. The following morning intelligence, which we clip from the Montreal Gazette of the 4th, has already been to obtain concerning the recent fire in Quebec.

Quebec, April 4.—A fierce fire has just broken out in the lower town, and is raging violently, threatening destruction of property. It commenced in Burns' coopers, near the common's exchange, corner of James and Dalhousie-streets, and communicated to Courcy's provision store and Armstrong's forge.

Great consideration prevails, as it is feared the fire might spread to the lower town. The Harbor Commissioners' building is in flames. All the documents have been removed. The whole block will be razed to the ground.
