

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

On no occasion will the names of Old Advertisements be inserted here.

Sewing Machines—G. A. Walton.
Change of Time—Brookville & Ottawa Railway.
Quintine Wine—W. M. Massey.
Dress Goods—Grant & Henderson.
Judicial Appointments.

THE POST-OFFICE—OTTAWA.

DELIVERING AND CLOSING OF MAIL.

MAILS.—DELIVERY.—CLOSED.

Eastern, Montreal, Quebec, &c.

Western, Toronto, Hamilton, &c.

UNITED STATES.

Alvimer, and offices above, on

North side of the Ottawa.

Amptor, Sand Point, Renfrew, Pembroke, &c., Ottawa.

Bell's Corners, Richmond Hill, Galt, Waterloo, &c.

Buckingham, L'Original, Galt, ville and Lower Ottawa.

Kempville, Osgoode, & Line of Ottawa and Prescott River, &c.

Chaffey's, Wakefield, and Upper Gatineau, and East Tempsford.

BRITISH MALES.

British Mails close to Canadian steamer from Portland, every Thursday at 9 p.m.; per Canadian steamer to Sandpoint at 2:30 p.m.

A supplement to the British Mail will be closed at 2:30 p.m. every Friday.

Money orders of Money Order Offices in Canada, Ontario, Newfoundland, and Prince Edward Island can be obtained at this office.

All Postage and Bill Stamps.

For New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and P.E.I., Island, &c., Portland, should be mailed before 1 p.m. on Wednesday and Saturday; and Newfoundland, &c., London, before the close of each Canadian steamer from Sandpoint.

Office hours—8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

G. F. BAKER, Postmaster.

RETRAITING CONFIDENCE.—The Hamilton Times says: We know men now in Parliament, and others who are candidates for seats in the Local Legislature, who cannot spell half a dozen consecutive words correctly.

ARRIVAL OF HIS EXCELLENCE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

The Hon. SOLICITOR GENERAL COCKER left this city yesterday morning for Colborne.

OTTAWA, JUNE 29, 1867.

According to previous announcement, his Excellency arrived here, last evening in the steamer Queen Victoria. The visit was a private one, without a retinue, his Lordship being attended solely by his private secretary, Mr. Godley.

Although it was known early in the afternoon that there would be no public reception, a large collection of people assembled, to welcome his Excellency on his arrival.

Among the most distinguished gentlemen present, we noticed the Honorable Sir N. F. Belleau, Hon. John A. Macdonald, Hon. G. E. Cartier, Hon. Mr. Tilley, Hon. Mr. Archibald, Col. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

The fact is Rideau Hall has been pronounced not fit for present occupation by Donald Monck's family, which is entirely the fault of the Board of Works, whose duty it was to have made better use of the ample time afforded them for the completion of the work. Seeing then, that his Excellency could not bring his family and suit at present, it was deemed advisable to defer a public reception until things are ready for his permanent residence in the capital. A very little reflection will be sufficient, therefore, to observe everyone that under the circumstances, everything has been done for the best, and a public reception at this time would have been very inappropriate.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS

To the Ottawa Times.

FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, June 28, 1867.

A despatch from Guelph says the stores of Naugton & Graham were burnt last night.

Long, heavy, but pretty well covered by insurance.

A telegram from Whitby says a boat containing two ladies named McIntosh and Calum, was lost in the harbor last evening, and the number of persons drowned, Mr. McCutchan died in swimming shore.

The Reform Convention terminates its labors to-day. Many resolutions were passed—one inviting George Brown to reconsider his decision to invite from public life, Mr. Brown, with much difficulty, to extend his influence to do so. The formation of a coalition Government, he said, was enough to make him reconsider his determination. In the convention last evening, Messrs. Macdonald and Howland were present by special invitation, when the resolution was brought forward commanding the Canadian Government to accept the new Government. It was necessary that the best available talent should be secured, and since Senators, all men or more or less experience, some of them distinguished for practical talent, might without violating any principle of law, accept seats in the Local Parliaments, it would be a wise and prudent course to make use of their services for a time. To object to their candidature is merely to restrict the freedom of the people's choice, and perhaps in some instances to tell a constituency that it cannot have the best man to look after its local interests, merely because, on a former occasion, the suffrages of the people had elevated him to the highest electoral office in their gift. If these men are competent to discharge the duties appertaining to the office of Senator, we should certainly esteem it a qualification for, rather than a fair, to their doing well the duties of Local members.

We have been warned that the Legislature of Ontario will project itself from the consequences of this "dual representation." Perhaps so. We admit its competency at any time to do it, but we question very much the wisdom of such a course. The system of holding seats in both the Local and General Legislatures is not likely to become very common. The circumstances which now appear to us to make it desirable, will soon be changed. The country will not again, by the creation of ninety-nine new seats, expose itself to a dearth of Legislative experiences, at the very time that such experience is the most needed. It is quite likely that the House of Assembly of Ontario will follow the example already set by Nova Scotia, and disqualify Senators and Members of the House of Commons from holding a seat in it. The tendency to exclusiveness is nothing new; but it is not desirable to indulge it in all cases. As an example, the County of Carlton will have an opportunity to pronounce not only upon the qualifications of the Hon. Mr. SKEDD, but also upon the question whether they believe the holding of the two positions incompatible. Assuming, as doubtless the electors of Carlton will decide, that Mr. SKEDD is just the man to take care of the interests of the county, and of the Province at large in the Legislature of Ontario, is there any reason, based upon public grounds, why the county should be restrained from selecting him in preference to another in whose ability to serve them the electors had not the same degree of faith?

This is one case in point, and the city of London furnishes another, in the person of Mr. CARLTON, who struggled for a while against accepting the double trust, but finally had to yield to the importunity of his supporters. There probably will occur a few cases before the elections are over, but we do not anticipate that they will be many, as a large number holding seats in the Confederate Legislature, who will offer for Ontario; and the reason is obvious, popular men do not like to overstrain the confidence of their friends, and constituencies, proud of their power of conferring distinction, will in the main be anxious to distribute the honors in their gift; so that there is not the remotest danger of "dual representation" becoming an evil in the future, while for the present its advantages must be manifest to all, because of the legislative and administrative experience necessary in the Local Legislature, which may thereby be brought in, but which could not otherwise be secured. If the "dual" system should lead to sending inferior men to the Local Parliament, we shall heartily join in condemning it; but if, as we believe, it will have quite a contrary effect we may well be excused for giving it a cordial support.

BETRAYING CONFIDENCE.—The Hamilton Times says: We know men now in Parliament, and others who are candidates for seats in the Local Legislature, who cannot spell half a dozen consecutive words correctly.

ARRIVAL OF HIS EXCELLENCE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

The Hon. SOLICITOR GENERAL COCKER left this city yesterday morning for Colborne.

OTTAWA, JUNE 29, 1867.

According to previous announcement, his Excellency arrived here, last evening in the steamer Queen Victoria. The visit was a private one, without a retinue, his Lordship being attended solely by his private secretary, Mr. Godley.

Although it was known early in the afternoon that there would be no public reception, a large collection of people assembled, to welcome his Excellency on his arrival. Among the most distinguished gentlemen present, we noticed the Honorable Sir N. F. Belleau, Hon. John A. Macdonald, Hon. G. E. Cartier, Hon. Mr. Tilley, Hon. Mr. Archibald, Col. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

The fact is Rideau Hall has been pronounced not fit for present occupation by Donald Monck's family, which is entirely the fault of the Board of Works, whose duty it was to have made better use of the ample time afforded them for the completion of the work. Seeing then, that his Excellency could not bring his family and suit at present, it was deemed advisable to defer a public reception until things are ready for his permanent residence in the capital. A very little reflection will be sufficient, therefore, to observe everyone that under the circumstances, everything has been done for the best, and a public reception at this time would have been very inappropriate.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS

To the Ottawa Times.

FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, June 28, 1867.

A despatch from Guelph says the stores of Naugton & Graham were burnt last night.

Long, heavy, but pretty well covered by insurance.

A telegram from Whitby says a boat containing two ladies named McIntosh and Calum, was lost in the harbor last evening, and the number of persons drowned, Mr. McCutchan died in swimming shore.

The Reform Convention terminates its labors to-day. Many resolutions were passed—one inviting George Brown to reconsider his decision to invite from public life, Mr. Brown, with much difficulty, to extend his influence to do so. The formation of a coalition Government, he said, was enough to make him reconsider his determination. In the convention last evening, Messrs. Macdonald and Howland were present by special invitation, when the resolution was brought forward commanding the Canadian Government to accept the new Government. It was necessary that the best available talent should be secured, and since Senators, all men or more or less experience, some of them distinguished for practical talent, might without violating any principle of law, accept seats in the Local Parliaments, it would be a wise and prudent course to make use of their services for a time. To object to their candidature is merely to restrict the freedom of the people's choice, and perhaps in some instances to tell a constituency that it cannot have the best man to look after its local interests, merely because, on a former occasion, the suffrages of the people had elevated him to the highest electoral office in their gift. If these men are competent to discharge the duties appertaining to the office of Senator, we should certainly esteem it a qualification for, rather than a fair, to their doing well the duties of Local members.

We have been warned that the Legislature of Ontario will project itself from the consequences of this "dual representation." Perhaps so. We admit its competency at any time to do it, but we question very much the wisdom of such a course. The system of holding seats in both the Local and General Legislatures is not likely to become very common. The circumstances which now appear to us to make it desirable, will soon be changed. The country will not again, by the creation of ninety-nine new seats, expose itself to a dearth of Legislative experiences, at the very time that such experience is the most needed. It is quite likely that the House of Assembly of Ontario will follow the example already set by Nova Scotia, and disqualify Senators and Members of the House

LOCAL NEWS.

CROWDED OUT.—The Report of Mr. Thornton's Grammar School is unavoidably crowded out of our columns to-day, but will appear on Monday.

COMPOSITION.—By some oversight the names of the City Fathers were left out of our report of the council proceedings on Monday last. All the members were present except Alderman Travers.

OTTAWA RIVER NAVIGATION CO.—This company having in view the convenience of its passengers and customers, have provided a new express wagon for the purpose of carrying baggage and light parcels to and from the boats.

A STATION CREATED BY CONFEDERATION.—The triumph of mind over matter.—"The pen might be stronger than the sword."—The use of this invaluable implement is taught most effectively in from eighteen to twenty-four lessons by Professor Long, Hunton's Block, Sparks-Street, Separate rooms for ladies.

SAP ABSCESS.—While a little girl, daughter of Alderman Hener, was playing in her father's yard with a neighbor's little girl, the latter began to play at chopping with an axe and accidentally almost chopped off the third finger of the left hand, a little below the second joint. Medicinal was procured, and a little hope is entertained that the finger may yet be saved.

LENT'S CIRCUS.—Our readers know that L. Lent's New York Circus changed its route, whereby the arrangements to show her lead to abandonment. It is creditable to Mr. Lent's already established business character that he has remitted the full amount of all accounts according to agreement contracted here, amounting altogether to $135.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS.—Finished by Mr. W. Hearne, Optician and Druggist, Market Street, York.

OTTAWA, June 28, 1867.—Greatest degree of heat registered on the previous night, 55 above zero.

NORTH, 34° above zero.
NORTH, 30° above zero.
NORTH, 26° above zero.
NORTH, 22° above zero.

6 p.m., 71 above zero.

IMPORTANT TO VOLUNTEERS.—MADAME CLERMONT'S CONCERT.—Messrs. Orme & Son have successfully opened the gallery of the Rink for the admittance of the Volunteers in uniform at 50 cents each. This ought to be taken by the Volunteers as a great compliment, and shew their numbers there, that they appreciate this act. There is no doubt now of the complete success of this concert. There are still a few reserved tickets to be disposed of.

NEW UNIFORMS.—We are glad to learn that new uniforms have been issued by the Militia authority to Little companies Nos. 1 and 2 of the Ottawa Provisional Battalion. The uniforms of these two companies had become so much worn while on active service at the front, in the months of June and July of 1866, that the men had become dissatisfied with their appearance on parade. Now, however, Nos. 1 and 2 will be among the most respectable in appearance at the great celebration.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.

ARRIVALS AT THE RAILWAY YESTERDAY.—H. Jones, Port Hope; Mr. Dawson, Trois-Rivières; Mr. Melrose, King's Lynn; Capt. Fitzroy, Montreal; Lord L. Hamilton; Dr. Henry Mortimer Windsor; L. Burton, Port Hope; S. L. Tilley, New Brunswick; Col. Dougall, & Son, Penneybridge; Mr. Abbott, Brockville; Mr. Wallace, Niagara; Mr. Wyse, Prescott; Mr. Archibald; Mr. McDougal, Col. Bernard and Judge Armstrong. All those gentlemen went on board and waited on his Excellency, who appeared in perfect health and spirits, and entered freely into conversation with his visitors. After a short time, his Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Godley, left the boat, amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude, and, entering the carriage in waiting, drove off to Rideau Hall.

A few days ago, when the day of the Governor General's visit was fixed, the City Council, the County Council, and several Societies, resolved on presenting addresses on the occasion, and felt somewhat disappointed yesterday when a telegram announced that the visit being a private one, there would be no public reception.