"A significant feature of the subsequent letters and memoranda is the feeling entertained by Mrs. Lincoln towards leading Republicans. She complains bitterly that men who besought her influence to secure their official positions, and were profuse with promises if she would gratify their wishes, now give her the cold shoulder. Certain persons of that party such as Thurlow Weed, Henry J. Raymond William H. Seward, and others, she is particularly severe against, and claims that it was through their influence that the plan proposed by the Tribune to raise a fund for her by the voluntary subscription of the people was thwarted.
