POLICE COURT.

mitted to take his trial for larceny at the for loss of life? Recorder's Court.

John Tierney, sr., Michael Tierney, Mur-tagh Tierney, and Charles Buckley, of Nepean, were charged with counterfeiting, of having in their possession the tools, &c., for counterfeiting, and also having in their possession a large quantity of American counterfeit coin. Detective O'Neill, sworn-The prisoners Tierney were known to him before, but did not know Buckley. Had a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Jane Tierney. Took most of the solice with me and surrounded the house ordan was the first to enter. Sergeant Davis and Brown went up stairs first, and six renained below, where all the inmates were collected together. First saw Michael Tierney coming down stairs. Murtagh was also up tairs partly stripped for work. Buckley was also up stairs. I was called up stairs, and entered a room fitted up as a work shop A stove was there with a strong fire in it, a kind of bell was fixed against the wall which communicated with the lower part of the bouse by means of a cord. In the work shop was a bench, a pair of rollers similar to what I have seen in Young & Radford's Jewellery munufactory for rolling metal. I detached these from the bench (here the rollers and a large number of coining implements were stewn, comprising a galvanic battery for electro plating, dies, moulds metals, acids, &c., and a large quantity of unfinished coin in various stages of progress, some just from the mould, some with the edges turned off fit for milliog, and others amounting to a large sum anished, rolled up and fit for the market. There were three moulds of the dates of 1860, 1861. Two other bundles apparently not colored, were found tied up in rays. Some of the metals found and produced in court were cast into plates ready for rolling. About fourteen bottles of acids of various kinds were also produced. Witness recollects nothing else that was in the room. The prisoner Buckley Ten, &c. Ede's Hedyesmia. was in the workshop

a half high. It was some time after I was in time I had ever seen him, and the neighbors say they had never seen him before. I had a warrant for the arrest of Jane Tierney on another charge, and arrested the other prisoners | Sole appointed agent for Ottawa and vicinity for in consequence of having found the spurious -coin and coining implements in the house.

Mr. William Wade, Manager of the Ontario Pank in this city, sworn—The coins produced resemble American half dollars, and are 10 well done that there would be no difficulty in passing them among good ones. He tried some of them with nitric acid and pronounced them

Sergeant Davis sworn-Corroborated O'Neill's estimony, and said he first entered the shop. the door of which was open when he reached it, and a light burning which was put out on his entering. I found the dies in the workshop; they were very hot when I found them; arrested all whom he found up stairs and sent them to be taken charge of by the policemen down stairs. John Jordan, policeman, sworn-Entered the house first, and let in Davis. The examination of other witnesses was deferred until the trial at the Recorder's Court. Mr. Gibb addressed the Bench in favor of the Tierney's, contending particularly that there's was no evidence to inculpate the old man, and maintained that he ought not to be sent to a

Mr. Lees, on behalt of the Crown, insisted that there was abundant evidence against all the prisoners to go to a jury. The same opinion was maintained by the Police Magistrate, and all the prisoners were committed for trial, and the witnesses bound over to prose-cute. Bail was fixed for the elder prisoner, himself in $1,000, and two sureties in $500

The case of Jane Tierney, who had been arrested on a charge of uttering spurious coin, was then postponed till four o'clock.

All the prisoners in the last case were again brought up on a charge of having in their casession a mould for making counterfeit british shillings, and which it was necessary to make a separate case of. O'Neill, Constable Brown and Sergeant Davis gave substantially the same evidence as that given in the morning As before Mr. Gibb made an eloquent appeal on behalf of the prisoners, urging strongly that there was no evidence to show that this mould was in their possession, although it was found

The Police Magistrate held that this particular mould was part of a whole, and that although the prisoner Tierney might not know even of its being in the house, he must have known of other articles being in the house for carrying on a business in which such things were used, and therefore, he should be held to have a guilty knowledge, embracing all the individual parts of the whole.

The prisoners were all committed to take their trial at the next assizes. Jane Tierney was then charged with utter-

George L. Orme testified to the prisoner having come into his music store to purchase a triffing article, for which she tendered a spurious halfdollar, which he refused to take. Mrs. Wigmore testified to the prisoner coming to her store to purchase ten cents worth of paper and paid ten cents she owed with a had half dollar. Shortly after McVeity came to the shop and asked if a young lady had been in and passed money. Witness then shewed him the half dollar she had taken from the prisoner. McVeity asked her to mark it, which she did and he took it away (produced In Court and identified).

William Young, jeweller, was called and proved the coin not to be silver. O'Neill proved arresting prisoner in her father's house about thirteen miles from Ottawa. She was committed for trial.
