ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY, NEW YORK. PRESENTATION TO ROBERT CRAWFORD, ESQ., OF LONDON.

A meeting of the St. Andrew's Society of this city, was held at Delmonico's, on the evening of Wednesday, December 31st, 1867. Taylor Johnston, Esq., the President of the Society, in the Chair.

Mr. Crawford, in reply, said that when he had the honor of attending as one of the guests of the Society, the magnificent banquet, he was surprised to find that many of the members, who had since ripened into friendship, and which he trusted might prove lasting.

Mr. Crawford continued, "I am privileged to see you all here, and to hear of the position which you well-deservedly and enterprise seldom fail to achieve, but you must pardon me in attributing some part of the credit to the fact of your having been the son of a gentleman." Mr. Crawford then alluded to the fact of his being a member of the St. Andrew's Society of Glasgow.
