Mr. ROSE stated that he did not anticipate | acquaintances are invited to attend.

In reply to Mr. JONES (Halifax), Mr. ROSE said the ad valorem duty on sugar was calculated free on board. This had been rendered necessary, because of the great difference in the Islands between the cost of the article and the expenses of placing it on board ship. The duty on molasses was also to be levied on the value free on board, and was as near as possible, just five cents per gallon. By the repeal of the duty on grain and flour the revenue surrendered $107,000. He anticipated a revenue of $125 000 from the five per cent. duty on manufac jared iron and books. The iron includes Canada plate, boiler plate, &c., &c., and printers' type would also be placed on the same list, but no change was to be made in paper. There would also be a small duty imposed on salphuric acid. At six o'cock the SPEAKER left to Chair, Mr. ROSE having the flor.

Several members raised questions upon particular points to which Mr. ROSE replied. ly on the passing thereof, and that the third and fourth shall take effect on and after the first day of July next. the Hon. MINISTER OF INLAND REV-ENUE briefly explained the effect of the resolutions, and the reasons which had led the tioverpment to introduce them. Mr. McKENZIE objected to several points is the resolutions. He contended that the inspection fee of 20 cents per barrel was altoother too much. The oil ought to be measured in the tanke, by which the expense would be much reduced, and the inspection could be as mafely done in this way as in the barrel, as reis were in a tank.

Hon, Mr. HOWLAND, in reply, explained that it was not intended that the excise should apply to stock on hand; and with respect to the duty representations had been made to the Government, asking them to impose a much higher rate of excise. to, another opportunity would be given to members to discuss the proposed changes.

Mr. McKENZIE protested against the imposition of an Import duty on rice, It appeared to him as if the Government, having determined to abandon the duty on flour and grain, had gone over the tree list to discover what other articles of food they could tax. (Laughter.) It appeared to him that some could be raised in a less objectionable and offensive way.

Hon. Mr. TILLEY explained that if the revenue could not be raised from one article it must be raised from another. He regarded the duty upon rice as not bearing upon the poorer classes, for it only entered into the consumption of those who were well to do.

Mr. McKENZIE protested that it was a tax on the food of the poor man, as any grocer The several resolutions, on motion of Hon. Mr. TILLEY, were then agreed to, considerable discussion having taken place on the transfer of the article of soap from the fiteen to the twenty-five per cent list. Mecars, McKENZIE, D. A: MACDONALD and YOUNG, strongly opposed the change. Mr. MACDONALD (Lunenburg) thought was time that the system of protecting every little petty manufacture which was started in the country, should be abandoned. They had already the example of the United States to show the pernicious effects of this system. Hon. Mr. TILLEY thought that the public could just as well afford to pay twenty-five per cent. for fancy soap, which was not by any means a necessity, as for ginger, mace, nutmegs
