The Hon. Mr. CHAPMAN left yesterday for home, and it is reported that Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD may perhaps leave to-day for the West. Sir JOHN has a long promised visit to his friends "up West" to discharge, and it is just possible that the present state of public business may permit him to do so.

The Penitentiary Directors left yesterday; and we understand that on the day previous they had a lengthy interview with the MINISTER OF JUSTICE as to the nature of their duties under the new Act. In about ten days they leave for New Brunswick to visit the Penitentiary there, thence they will proceed to Nova Scotia, and their absence will doubtless be prolonged for some time, as this will be their first official visit to the institutions in the Maritime Provinces.

LONDON, Hamilton and Ottawa—we give them precedence according to time—have moved in the matter of relief to the Red River settlers. St. Paul's, in Minnesota, New York, and London, the metropolis of the empire, have already raised by Toronto and charity; but what has been done by Toronto and Montreal? We have combed the pages of their local press to vain for the evidence of any sign towards a response to the call made upon them. The papers of the Ontario Capital have urged upon the citizens the necessity of doing something, if not for charity, at least for shame's sake; but the hearts of the Torontonians seem to be steeled against charity, and their cheeks hardened against the blush of shame. We are sorry for Toronto, that thus far it has acted so shabbily, not only for its own sake, but because it has treated the earnest appeals of its own local press on behalf of the Red River settlers with the utmost contempt.

The Ottawa correspondent, thanks, perhaps, in a great measure to the noble example of Mr. FRASER, and thanks certainly to the indefatigable exertions of the MAYORS and the Secretary of the Committee, as well as to the zeal of Mr. STACY, the collector, has now reached the respectable figure of $1,680. More than two-thirds of this amount is already away on its mission of mercy to buy provisions in the best market, and have them forwarded to the starving settlers at the earliest possible moment. And we trust that the good people of Ottawa will yet swell the subscription to at least $2,000, (and then let them remember, in all humility, that Mr. FRASER contributed one-fifth of that amount,) so that our distant friends may be fed to their hearts' content, and we may feel that our political fate ever allied to ours, as we hope it soon may, they may regard themselves as one with us in sentiment, or at least in sympathy. As for the denizens of Montreal and Toronto, we shall speak of them again, when we see that their latent charity has been aroused, for we are persuaded, with respect to both, that their holding back in the presence of such an urgent case of need is solely to be attributed to the bad management of those who ought to be their leaders in every good work. But for the MAYOR of Ottawa, and one or two others, we fear that our own city would have had no such honorable exhibit in this affair; and, therefore, we call upon our rich neighbors, East and West, to get the right men to take the lead, and then go ahead with their subscriptions. It will be a burning shame for them, and for the whole country, if they don't.

[From the Montreal Gazette, October 7th.] It is said that, before leaving on his approaching visit to England, the Adjutant-General will draw up an official report on the working for the use of the Privy Council; and that if a feasible plan can be economically devised, a somewhat similar institution will probably be established at some central point in Canada—the object being to supersede the present Military Schools, and place a high class military education within reach of the youth of the country.

[From the Ottawa Citizen, October 8th.] The Adjutant-General's mission to West Point, before proceeding to England, and that if a feasible plan can be economically devised, a somewhat similar institution will probably be established at some central point in Canada—the object being to supersede the present Military Schools, and place a high class military education within reach of the youth of the country.

What the Gazette modestly put as a rumour the Citizen "cries" almost loudly, and in its first editorial column "without the usual or any acknowledgment" as a piece of reliable information. As a matter of fact the ADJUTANT-GENERAL goes to West Point at the instance of the Imperial authorities, and we are positively assured that the Militia Department of Canada has no present intention of establishing "a similar institution" to that of West Point, nor to disturb the system now being established under the new Militia Law, until it shall have proved inefficient, an occurrence not likely to happen for years to come. The Gazette has been always distinguished for its advocacy of a vigorous Militia policy, and has gone further in this direction, we believe, than the party with which it accords would care to follow, so that in accepting the report concerning the ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S visit to West Point, it is probable "the wish was father to the thought." But our city conferees should have taken means to verify the rumour before giving it as positive information, and thereby needlessly affording an occasion for a fresh cry about additional and unnecessary expenditure. The MINISTER OF MILITIA gave Parliament the most distinct assurances as to the cost of the working of his new and comprehensive Militia Law, and the public may rely upon it, that Sir GEORGE enters into no silly notion of spending a military system which the circumstances of the country do not require, and its finances cannot well afford.

"The compliments of the season."—The Montreal Daily News gives the Toronto Telegraph credit for "all the prejudices and pretensions of village life, with a slight tinge of gentility." We will.

The London Free Press, which has ever been a persistent opponent of the Intercolonial Railway, which has battled for what it called the "shortest" route, when it was not battling for no route at all, is now exceedingly surprised that the country has not been worked up to a high state of excitement, because of the selection of the Northern. In a recent issue, it says: "The development with which the subject is regarded, the substitution of a long and tedious route, going all around an almost uninhabited country, and of a length calculated to make it absolutely useless for general commercial purposes, suggests that there is a misconception somewhere. Do the public really understand that a sum of money, equal to the two hundred millions of dollars, is about to be absolutely sunk in the waste of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick? That, moreover, notwithstanding a large outlay in the next twenty years, a still further sum is to be annually paid out to keep the wheels running, to clear away the snow that will accumulate there, and find grease for the empty cars that, for some years, will be kept in motion on it?"

We might ask the Free Press whether it seriously believes the people to be so dead to their own interests, as to remain apathetic if they imagined for a moment that its picture was a true one? Has it the evidence of any man familiar with the subject to sustain the truth of its assertions?

In another part of the same article it says: "It is a national object to be served by this extraordinary railway, the nation pay for it as a whole, as they might for any other kind of a precautionary or defensive kind, but to saddle the expense of these objects upon Canada alone, and especially upon the Province of Ontario, which will pay three-fourths of the cost before it is over, and reap absolutely none of the benefit, is putting matters in a position so unsatisfactory that one is really amazed at the indifference which the people show towards it."

The "apathy" and "indifference" of the public are not the occasion of any surprise to those who understand the question, however much they may "amuse" or "astonish" the writer in the Free Press, who has drawn upon his fancy for his facts, and evidently regards the building of the Intercolonial as one of the worst calamities which could befall the Dominion, and a special misfortune to Ontario. But this admission that the people are by no means troubled, either by the selection of the route, the negotiation of the loan, or the early commencement of the work, from one of its most earnest opponents, shows conclusively that at least is convinced that the voice of the country is with the Government. It would be absurd to suppose that an expenditure of from sixteen to twenty millions of dollars could be entered upon by any Government without a strong popular remonstrance, were the object upon which it was about to be laid out considered undesirable by any large number of the people; and though the Free Press has nothing to offer but bald assertion to prove that a mistake has been made in the choice of route, its admission as to the state of public feeling is sufficient to show, if it correctly represents that feeling, that the people are not dissatisfied with it.

Will the Free Press tell us upon what authority it bases its estimate that thirty or forty millions of dollars are to be "absolutely sunk in the wilds of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick"? Who is its engineer? Or does it really rate the intelligence of Ontario so poorly as to suppose that its own readers will believe the absurd and ridiculous assertions, or the shadow of facts, to sustain one's statements, calculated to expose even a good cause to jeopardsy, but when put forward in opposition to the most elaborate engineering reports, and against the best judgment of men whose duty it was to master the subject, and whose reputations are staked upon the wisdom of their choice, the "tail-lashing" of the Free Press becomes simply nonsensical. It is a reliable authority for its figures, we would be prepared to give its objections to the route every reasonable attention; but until it can establish their correctness it would be a mere waste of space to follow it through all its hap-hazard assertions.

With reference to a paragraph which appeared in our local columns on the 6th inst., relative to the departure of two companies of the P. C. O. Rifle Brigade for Cobourg, we regret to find that the badinage of our reporter has been misinterpreted by the officers and men of the brigade. What was intended was merely to warn the girls of the folly of ridiculing the soldiers, but we believe that our military friends had got into their heads that our reporter had cast reflections on their honor and gallantry. The paragraph in question would not fairly bear such a construction; and with respect to the P. C. O. Rifle Brigade, we are happy to say, that the honorable character they have earned elsewhere has been nobly sustained during their stay in Ottawa. But the soldiers of the Brigade have felt, as our soldiers feel, that the attentions of the fair sex are sometimes unduly pressed upon them, and it was with the view of preventing a repetition of this that our reporter referred with some sarcasm to the scenes presumed to have been enacted on the departure of the two companies in question the other morning. We have reason to believe, however, that the account we had received (at second hand) was considerably exaggerated, and that no unfortunate followed the companies to the station. The P. C. O. Rifle Brigade, officers and men, have enjoyed to a large degree the confidence and respect of the citizens of Ottawa, and if our reporter has felt compelled to allude to their unbounded popularity among the "weaker vessels" of our population, it has only been with the desire of guarding the latter against temptation; and without the remotest intention of casting any reflection on the Brigade.

MONTREAL, the city of the fire alarm and two fire marshals, is not exempt from incendiary fire, if we can believe the following statement of the Gazette, "which as a matter of course we have no reason to doubt: "During the past three months there have been no less than thirty-seven incendiary fires in this city, thirty-four of them having been in lay-off and stable."

This is certainly worse than Ottawa with its horse-cut-and-punchion water works system, no fire alarm, very little engine, and a willing brigade.

We wonder whether the Globe or the Hon. Gosselin would be able to appreciate the following "puff" from a Montreal journal: "The Globe, which speaks the sentiments of the Hon. George Brown, contends that Ontario made a capital bargain out of Confederation, and that, even if it blundered when it rejected the offer, it indirectly served its own Province so effectively that its error rebounded to its credit. It frankly says that he disapproved of carrying representation by population to the House, but he succeeded by a side wind."

AFTER more than a year's cogitation Mr. B. DAVIES, of Montreal, is concluded to go on with his libel suit against the editor of the Toronto Freeman, the trial to come on at the present Assizes, being set down for the 15th inst. The Freeman's crime consisted in making some insinuations during the time the McClellan case was under discussion about certain "regal" funds collected in Montreal many years ago. Mr. Davies claims the trifling sum of $20,000 as indemnity for the injury done to his reputation. If he could only sell out the remaining fragments at the auction, he would be the richest man in the Dominion. It is a curious case, and one which has attracted much of the public attention. It is evident that the Canadian members of the Toronto bar are held in high professional esteem by their Hibernian fellow subjects.

LOCAL NEWS. In LOW WATER.—We are informed that the steamer City of Ottawa, laden with freight, was laid up in the water at Newboro' yesterday, but has probably been able to proceed on her way before this.

PROVINCIAL MATTER.—The ploughing match in connection with the County of Carleton Agricultural Society will take place on Wednesday, 14th inst., on the farm of A. Fritchard, Esq., Richmond Road. The prizes will be:—Senior Class—1st prize, $7; 2nd, $5; 3rd, $3; 4th, $2; 5th, $1; 6th, $1. Junior Class—1st prize, $4; 2nd, $3; 3rd, $2; 4th, $1; 5th, $1; 6th, $1. Third Class—Men who never before ploughed with a county match 1st prize, a new present harrow given by J. Evans, Esq., value $10; 2nd prize by T. Clark, Esq., value $3; and 3rd prize by T. Isaac, Esq., 4th, $5; 5th, $4.

FLOUR DOWNS.—We are pleased to publish the gratifying fact that flour is down half a dollar on the barrel. We shall see what effect this will have on the price of bread. The price of extra fine flour is now $7 to $7.25, and No. 1 quality is $6 to $6.25, with a prospect of its being still lower. Of No. 2 quality there is none in the market. With the present season's crop of potatoes, the price of No. 1 is $1.50 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; No. 2 and No. 3 are $1.25 to $1.50 per 100 lbs.; potatoes at 35 to 40 cents per bushel, and other commodities at correspondingly low prices, with a prospect of some of them being yet lower, the mechanic and the lower classes of people will find it easier to make both ends meet on Saturday night.

POLICE COURT.—Richard DeCrosse was charged with having been found drunk on Rideau-st., and fined $2 and costs.—Letimier, for assaulting his wife, was fined $3 and costs.—Martin Cameron was charged with taking away a dog belonging to Thomas Armstrong. It appears in evidence that the dog was taken away without the permission of the owner, on a hunting expedition, and was lost in the woods. The defence was that Mr. Cameron was walking on a hunt with his own dog, and that Mr. Armstrong, knowing by the sight of the dog, that there was sport ahead, followed of his own accord. A witness who was one of the spectators on the occasion said they went as far as Green's Creek when they started a deer, when the dog went in with the others. His Worship said he did not know the defendant took the dog with an improper motive, and he would adjourn the case till next Tuesday, to see if he could be found.

THE SKATING RINK.—We understand it is the intention of the Directors of the Skating Rink to have no more exhibitions or concerts in that place during the present season. The expense of heating it being too great to warrant the attempt to keep it open, as was done last year, till the cold weather set in, it will shortly be closed till the skating season, as a skating rink, there are few better. And it is contemplated, we believe, to open it this winter under such regulations as can scarcely fail to give general satisfaction to the skating portion of the community. The probability is that it will be open to subscribers four evenings a week, and two to the public, during the coming winter. The theatre will be the only place available for dramatic representations, concerts, minstrelsy, &c. &c. This will be a fine specimen of the exercise, and it is the only one in the city suitable for them. It is quite large enough to contain such audiences as are likely to be sought together for some time to come. It is capable of being warmed as, since it came into the hands of the present Lessee, it has been, so as to be perfectly comfortable in the coldest weather, and at the same time can be effectually ventilated.

At this season of the year when few farmers, big cabins, and big vegetable productions generally, are engaging the attention of those interested in them, and the subjects of elegant panegyrics at exhibition dinners, we may be permitted to mention the fact that our local met with some pumpkins yesterday that are pumpkins, which, but for that fact, might, so far as the public are concerned, have been born to blush anon, for they had not the honor to be present at the fair to have big things said of themselves and their grower. Mr. Richard McCann, who resides in Centre Town, has on his place as fine specimens of the cucurbitaceae, we should think, as were ever produced from their native soil in the Levant. They were all grown from one seed; two of them measure six feet each in circumference, and the other two but three or four inches long. Taken for all in all they are about the best looking and finest four pumpkins we remember to have seen grown on one stem. The weight of the largest was 45 lbs., and that of the second 45 lbs. and the third 45 lbs. and the fourth 45 lbs. and the fifth 45 lbs. and the sixth 45 lbs. and the seventh 45 lbs. and the eighth 45
