Mothers Read This!—MOTHERS! Worm Losses are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children an Adults.—As it is a well-known and established fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease thousands of children might be saved from early graves.

They are palatable and self-administered to the child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as is the use of other Worms.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS. What Mr. Motley may Expect—No More Concessions to be Made by Great Britain—No Further Overtures. From the London Times, April 6. It is stated on good authority that Mr. John Lathrop Motley is to be the Minister of the United States in England.

The change is not of much importance, as it is judged from the feeling that has manifested in America, the substitution of Mr. Motley for the present Minister is likely to soothe a large portion of the public which has been irritated by Mr. Reverdy Johnson's exuberant oratory. Strange to say, the speeches of Mr. Reverdy Johnson and the good understanding he has established with our various hospitable municipalities have been greeted by some Americans, as if they had received some fault on our part. Nothing can be more unreasonable. Mr. Reverdy Johnson was appointed at a time when an important question was pending between the two nations, and he gave us to understand that he was specially chosen to settle it. Lord Russell and Mr. Adams had been too much engaged in the mutual complaints and recriminations of the war to approach the subject favourably.

Lord Russell went out of office; Mr. Adams returned home; a new Foreign Secretary and a new American Minister had opportunities their predecessors had not enjoyed. This being the state of things, Mr. Reverdy Johnson took occasion, even before his departure, to express the good will towards England which animated himself, and with which he credited his own countrymen. On arriving in England he used the same language, and spoke in the name of the American people with a warmth which was naturally reciprocated by his audience.

Of course, we are sorry to find that in so doing he met with the feeling of his countrymen towards us; but that we should listen to what he said and be gratified by it is surely no fault of ours. The impressionable Minister naturally had in this country of public denunciations numerous opportunities of repeating his friendly sentiments, and his eloquent reports recorded them all, even the most impromptu and spontaneous. Where we were amused the Americans were angry, and the result has been certainly unfortunate. Mr. Reverdy Johnson, however, notwithstanding his complimentary speeches, appears to have been active enough in his diplomatic work, and to have fulfilled all the duties of his Government. He concluded a convention, in which everything the United States could reasonably demand was conceded by us—a convention, indeed, that imposed on us possible liabilities which many thought we ought not to have accepted. Principally because of the unpopularity of the agent, this convention has been ill received in the United States, and is now said to have been virtually rejected. It is plain that a United States Minister in this country may be too fair-spoken, and that for practical purposes, it is better to deal with a more faithful, though a less acceptable, representative of American opinion.

It is a great thing, however, to feel ourselves democratically in the right. This country has gone to the polls in favour of the Union, and the Alabama claims are a course of action so unfriendly and offensive. It is more likely that, assuming the present convention to be set aside; Mr. Motley will be instructed to open negotiations for another, differing somewhat in machinery, but embodying similar principles. Should this be the case, our Government will be ready to meet the proposals on a fair consideration. Should it, on the other hand, be the desire of the Americans to keep the question still unsettled, the British nation, having fully manifested its good disposition, will not feel bound, however, to initiate fresh negotiations.
