Accrion Sale .- On Tuesday next Mr. Tackaberry will sell the household turniture and effects, and all utensils and implements belonging to a large bakery, together with horses, cutter, harness, bread waggon, and a variety of other articles on the Valiquette estate. See advertisement and bills. ---

Pic-Nic .- The St. Patrick's Literary Associon are making extensive preparations to hold a pic-nic on a very large scale. It will come off on the Major's Hill on Thursday next, and from present indications it is going to be the greatest thing of the kind, which we have seen here for a long time. The list of games we believe, is a very long one and great competition for the prizes may be expected.

COMMODORE FOOTE.-It is said that the Skating Rink has been engaged for this great little man, who is to be here in about two weeks, with his sister, Miss Eliza Nestel These are claimed to be the smallest people alive, the commodore being no taller than a child four years old, and his sister, eighteen years of age, no taller than a child two years old. They do not come alone, but have a little company, who go through a series of performances. The Rink is engaged for the first and second of Septem-

The right spirit is being awakened. Preparations are being made for holding public meetings, and gentlemen familiar with constructing and working railroads have been invited to ad dress the people on the subject. It is to be hoped that city and county will co-operate with the projectors of the undertaking, and thus while the lost trade of the city will be restored the value of the land will be greatly enhanced.

Police Count.-James Sinclair was charged with assaulting a little boy, named McCarthy, eight years of age, on Friday last. By th evidence it appeared that the boy, with another, was driving a cow and holding her by the tail, when defendant followed and assaulted him. Three witnesses characterised the beating and kicking as being most cruel.

James McCarthy, father of the boy, said the child had complained very much of a pain in his side, but did not know of anything very serious being the matter with him. Adolphe Pinard, policeman, had heard the defendant admit having kicked the boy, but he said he did not kick him hard. Witness stated that he had been provoked by the conduct of the boys."

The magistrate said that was no excuse for an aggravated assault on a child, and he was fined $5 and costs. Glaude Boileau was charged with using insulting language towards Madame Goulet. The evidence was not deemed sufficient to sustain the charge, and the case was dismissed

Thomas Hinchey appeared in the dock to answer the charge of cruelly beating and illtreating his wife. He asked for a postponement to enable him to get a witness from Hull. He was, therefore, sent back to jail on remand.
