ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

The tenth annual gathering of Scotchmen and the descendants of Scotchmen, under the as expect at Prescott Junetion ank Railway for all points south auspices of the St. Andrew's Society of Ottawa took place yesterday, and it is no compliment any intormation, may be had aral Ticket Office, Russell House Block, the Scotchmen engaged in the observance of the day to state that the festivities passed off in the most orderly and harmonious man-

> The day had been looked forward to with eyen more than ordinary interest, and the committee appointed to make the necessar preparations for a due observance of the day worked remarkably well, and with the greatest energy and harmony. The President, Mr. Thorburn, with characteristic application, laboured incessantly in the work. The Secretary, Mr. B. Billings, jr., was ever at his and performed much good work To Mr. Orme was assigned the onerous duty of selecting and arranging the music for the concert in the evening, and of choosing the singers and accompanists, and this he did so well as to command the admiration of all who understand what such things should be. In fact there was no one engaged in the undertaking, but gave the greatest satisfaction.

The day was ushered in by a regular Scotch mist. The weather was very mild, far mor than on the preceding anniversary, and was far more favourable to the "kilt," but we were glad to see all appear in the costume proved by the present age. Soon after nine o'clock a.m. the members of the society asembled at the Court House, where, after routine business they proceeded to elect a ensiderable number of new members. eleven o'clock the Society formed in process sion, headed by the old flag, and followed by Msesre, McEachern and Robertson in their plaid scarfs, playing the national anthem came a large number of boys, sons of Scotchmen, and then the members, followed by the officers wearing their official badges, the President, John Thorburn, Esq., M. A., with James Fraser, Esq , ex-President, and Mr. J M. Taylor bringing up the rear. In this order they proceeded to the Kirk, on Welling. ton street, where an eloquent and impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. D. M. Gordon; who took for his text the 35th verse the 20th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles; PRILIP PRILLIPS, THE AMERICAN SINGER .- This | -" I have showed you all things; how that and to remember the words of the Lor

> Had it been at all convenient we shoul have published a report of the sermon in full as we have done on former occasions, but it was not, and the effort was so excellent that it would suffer by abridgment. The preacher pointed out many instances of sublime charity fraught with blessing, and indicated as one the burial of our Saviour. To the St. Andrew's Society he made an eloquent appeal in behalf of their needy fellow countrymen, and urged that God gave riches as a means of doing good.

Special music was provided on the occasion. and executed in a very effective manner by the choir. Mr. Orme, organist, presiding.

According to previous announcement, grand concert was given in the evening at Her Majesty's Theatre, which was a grand success. The hour for commencing, which was eight o'clock, had not arrived when scores of people returned, unable to gain admission. The house was literally jammed rom the pit to the ceiling.

John Thorburn, Esq, President, took the chair, and with him on the platform we noticed Sir John Macdonald, Hon. Joseph Howe, his Worship the Mayor, Isaac Morgan, Esq. Warden, Rev. Father Dawson, Rev. D. M. Gordon, his Honour Judge Armstrong, E. A. Meredith, Esq., L.L.D., George May, Esq. President of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, Dr. Grant, M. P., and E. McGillivray. smoke pouring out of that part of the burn. The concert was opened by the President in a ing building. The geometrical lathe, a very very suitable address, congratulating the costly machine, was saved. The furniture Society on the great success which Hath Scotland's honour tarnished been;—Go longing to Mr. Lindsay Russell, had crowned their efforts, and concluded direction of Signor Raineri, executed in their excellent style, Les Vepres Sicilieunes. Sinclair sang " My Heather Hills." Joynt, accompanied by Miss Orme, " Ever of Thee," which was applauded and encored, but encores could not be permitted and the audience were disappointed. The President then introduced the Hon Malcolm Cameron, who came forward and entertained the audience with one of his husupport of their families. The building was morous speeches, in which he gave a laughable account of the national Saints, St. Patrick, St. Andrew and St. George,

The band then played a Scotch melody with variations for cornet, arranged by Rai-Miss Jenkins was well applauded for her pretty little song, " Take Care." The dust sung by Misses McGillivray Orme, " Where the Rippling Streams," was well received.

Corporal Putman, of the 60th, sung comic song in character : " Will Jones : o the Wreck at London Bridge." This suited the tastes of so great a majority of the audience that the President's authority was not sufficient to prevent an encore, and he

The President said he now had the pleasure of calling on the Premier, Sir John Mac-

Sir John came forward and said that when he last saw the President there was special acrangement that he should not speak, and he was therefore unable to account for the strange ballucination or forgetfulness by which he was now called on to make a speech.
