Dress-Bishop Hall defines a huckster as a trickster, and to show that he is correct, we notice that during the season that wild ducks are for sale on the market in this city a species commonly called saw-bill or merquase, which are anything but agreeable cating, being decidedly fishy, is frequently offered for sale. The ducks belonging to this family are known by their long toothed beaks or mandibles, but Mr. Huckster cuts these of sufficiently short in order to make them resemble the edible kind, and then demands the market price for the latter, and too frequently obtains it.

THE sow of David, and many other sows have, time and again, made considerable noise in the world, while " may it please the pigs, is a form of expression peculiar to the natives of the Emerald Isle. According to Mr. Hency, whose letter appeared in our last Public Meering .- A meeting is, we perceive, | pletely misinformed with regard to an accident sustained by one of Mr. Heney's pigs, at the hands of, and, as he alleges, with malice aforethought, the Reverend Mr. Morris, who had been convicted of blackening one of the visual organs of the Heney grunter, and who in our columns, had been guilty of the unpardonable offence of "belaying" Mr. Heney " with abuse" and ridiculing his pig, and the pig's story. It appears that the two gentlemen who have been in the police court, and have rushed into print on account of the trespass of a porcine quadruped being resisted vi et armis to the pig's facial disfigurement are well to-do in the world, and, therefore, seem to fancy that such petty The clergyman avers that Mr. Hency "swears terribly," and Mr. Heney thinks that such language is scarcely decent or consistent with the cloth he wears Sr. Albans School House Reatings. The seats, and we feel assured, that Mr. Morris readings will commence | unctually at eight and Mr. Heney would rather contribute to the completion of the church, than spend their money at law or chase pigs in, or stone them out of gardens on the Sabbath d. v. It is perhaps, a pity that this pig-business could not have been settled without either an appeal to the administrator of summary justice at the Police Court, or to public opinion through the medium of the press. All parties are highly censurable for having done as they have done, and perhaps none more so than the attache of the Times. Nevertheless "may it please the pigs" the attache has, as a police reporter, simply performed a public but very painful duty, and, it is to be hoped

The meeting, however was organized, Dr. Sweetland having been called to the chair, and Mr. Mills requested to act as Secretary. Mr. D. M. Grant moved, and was seconded by Mr. Wm. M. Beattle. that J. G. Robinson is a fit and proper person to represent St. George's Ward for the ensuing year. The motion was on the eve of passing when an irrepressible individual named John Orr objected by saying "not." This gave rise to some argument, when Mr. B. S.
