LONDON VS. QUEBEC .- A regular shindy was kicked up in the London City Council last Monday evening, over Alderman Glackmeyer's expenses to Troy, to purchase a bell. Ald. Smith said $85 was extortionate, as he could get a cabin passage to Europe for $70. Ald. Farris didn't condemn the expense so much as the committee that sent Ald. Glackmeyer, and said that the committee actually proposed to send him before any position had been received. Ald Campbell said that was an infamous falsebood, and he wouldn't swallow such hoss-trot bullying. Ald. Egan said the fare to Troy was only a little over $6, which was denied by Ald. Glackmeyer, who said he travelled first class like a gentleman, and not third class, as Ald. Egan does, like a nigger. After all was lost .- Quebec Chronicle.

The New York Times says :- Our city must look to its laurels or it will be outdone by so petty a place as Americus, in Georgia. We had a very fair variety of shooting affrays lately, but nothing quite equal to that which was arranged by an amiable citizen named Doolittle. He was one of a party assembled to take a friendly drink, in a liquor store, when on a sudden he pulled out a pistol and said, " Slide out ! I'm going to shoot." His companions took him at his word and ran-all except one toper named Noumenger. Doolittle instantly shot this man dead, saying as he fell, " Art you hurt, Joe ?" Are we to be besten in this way ! The elections are over, or no doubt some of the candidates for civic honours would soon get even" on Americus. Southerners cannot be allowed to claim a monopoly of fire-eaters and assassins now, and if Doolittie comes down this way, he may easily find a match for himself in cowardly ruffianism. -A curious case of loss of speech occurred recently in Budwels, Moldavia. A young man dreamed that he was attacked by robbers, one of whom was about to murder him. He tried to cry out for help, but his voice failed him, and when he awoke he found that he could not utter a word. He was advised to go to Vienna for treatment, and has there fortunately recovered his speech. He has now returned to his native place.
