EVIDENTLY WRONG .- HE SMILES

Seemingly it is not enough that every word of the charges made by an opposition je u nal, in reference to the conduct of a C. b net Minister at Red River, is untrue It a Cabinet Minister jokes as did the late President Lincoln-or sneers as does Mr. Ber jan n Disraeli-or does anything, which any other intelligent human being may de we an the spirit moves him-there is a color of truth in anything which any one may say about him, who jokes, or jeers, or laughs. It would be very terrible if the Honorable Joseph Howe, upon attaining his ada? eightieth year, should burst forth into a joyous laugh. It is a great pity that the Honorable Secretary of State for the Protongue, superior understanding, and is obdescend to plead to the charges made against him on the faith of public rumors, and on stories, so circumstantially related by the Globe, that the Ottawa Evening Mail cannot resist believing in them. It is heart-rending that Mr. Joseph Howe simply replies to such charges that they are quite untrue, in the tace of such alarming circumstantial evidence as the Globe has strung together, and which the Mail believes. If Mr. Howe had not denied the allegations of the Globe, the Mail would have believed such allegations, and if he, naturally, andwe shall add-properly demes them, evidence is so circumstantial that the Mail cannot help believing in the evidence.

THE following paragraph is from the London Free Press :

There is something evidently wrong.

"The Globe says that Mr. Howe was guilty of 'sneaking treachery' when on his late visit to Red River. It also expresses its bethem-elves with the Brownites in Ontario, Mr. Howe was depicted as a beaven-born statesmen, at least. ST. ALBANS'S-A FREE CHURCH.

To the Editor of THE TIMES. DEAR SIR,-You must not be surprised at many of my friends as well as myself feeling aggrieved at a statement in your lead- morrow. ing article of to-day. No doubt it was made without design and in ignorance of facts. Yet, as, week by week, in your columns, when the religious services of bunday in this city are enumerated, the announcement is repeated, that at St. Alban's church ALL SEATS ARE FREE AND UNAPPROPRIATED, seems not a little strange for the Editor to write this sentence :- " There is not a church in Ottawa that one can enter without an intro duction by the beadle to some owner of a pero" !

By MISS ELLIE C. M. The glowing sunset, softly bright As dreams of Heaven's rosy light, The lilied snows and smiling sky,

And tender as the golden blush That o'er the deep brown forests flush, Robing in crimson every tree, Are those dear memories to me.

Call up sweet thoughts of days gone by.

Old times! old times! the low winds sigh, Old times the mild, brown woods reply ; Wild, evening clouds-a rosy chain Seem echoing the soft refrain.

O dreams as fading, wild and sweet, Why memory thus the tale repeat Of hopes that bloomed to fade away, Like flowers that in their prime decay. Delightful youth! life's summer hours

Would fain recall thy fairer flowers, But nought can ever these restore But when remembrance paints them o'er.

The sweetest, tenderest joy that e'er, Hath charmed, once only, thus can cheer; The wildest woe that e'er distressed. Can grieve but once, the aching breast.

There comes not back from days gone by One scene to make us smile or sigh, A single hour of pleasant vein, Or grief to wound our hearts again.

The life, which mourns its blighted bloom May smile to see thy lesser gloom. Fade, fade and die; thou sunset light, The man who lives and acts aright. Can smile to view thy palmy rays, And welcome night with heart of praise.
