THE HALL.—The first feature in importance was, perhaps, the display of woollen goods and articles of home manufacture, exhibited by the ladies. It was agreed on all hands to be the finest collection yet shown in the hall. The dairy department was a marked feature. In butter alone there were 57 samples, sepa rated into three classes, the better to award the prizes, which were numerous and liberal. Fruit was also largely shown, one individual alone having on view 27 varieties of apples from his orchard in Nepean. The chief exhibitors were the Messrs. Thompson and Mr R Traveller, of Nepean, and Mr H Gourlay, of March. Of produce, a very fine display was made. Fall wheat was plump and well $2,207 80 filled, spring wheat not being so juniform in quality however. Oats grown on high soil was of a very fair description, but from low lands they were in some cases badly filled In the other grains there were in nothing remarkable. The roots were very good -perhaps scarcely equal, however, to the dispin 1171 38 of 1868—the best of many years. Every 130 00 available spot was taken up with the samples. which were far more numerous than had ever before been placed in the Agricultural Hall, > played in the Hall, exhibitors coming from the distance of Ashton and Ottawa. It will be seen that $181.90 is still due to the treasurer. Only $13.00, however, of this sum is due on last year's account, and as your Directors have expended nearly $100 during the season on permanent improvements, and the Society is otherwise entirely free from debt, they cannot but think that at the close of the season's labours the County agricultural Society stands in a healthy and
