

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Opening New Establishment—C. P. Dorin Grand Annual Excursion to Prescott—R. O'Reilly, Secretary.

The Ottawa Times. Official No. 20,000. TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 1870.

For interesting reading matter see First Page. Hon. Mr. Tilley leaves to-day for the Lower Provinces.

Dr. Schultz leaves this morning for Toronto. Mr. Hilliard will probably leave Ottawa to-morrow.

Mr. Mackenzie, leader of the Opposition, intended leaving home yesterday, for a trip through New Brunswick.

Colonel Martindale, of the Control Department, is in town, and is staying at the residence of T. Reynolds, Esq.

We understand that Mr. Motley is to be recalled, and that Mr. Secretary Fish is to take his place as United States Minister at the Court of St. James.

The British Columbia delegates' leave to-day. We believe that there is every probability of terms of union being arranged, which will be satisfactory to all.

The elections in Gloucester and Carleton counties, N. B., took place yesterday. In Queen's County the polling is fixed for to-day, and in Northumberland and St. John County to-morrow. St. John's city elections will take place on Thursday next.

The British Columbia of Halifax says, every Italian steamer which calls there, round eastward, takes a number of old countrymen, who having come out with the idea of settling in the United States, discovered the falsity of the statements by which they were originally induced to emigrate, are returning home sadder and wiser men.

The last steamer from New York for England, which called at Halifax, had nearly five hundred passengers of this description on board.

The completion of the Indian telegraph has been passed by almost unnoticed, although it is really a most important event in the history of the British Empire.

The authorities of the Indian Office to be enabled to communicate at any moment with that far away country, is an immense source of strength to the Empire, equal in fact to the addition of many thousands of British troops to the military force now stationed in India.

What happens in Calcutta or Bombay in the morning may be the theme of conversation in London by midday, and may be known in Ottawa or Washington in the course of the afternoon.

But we are becoming so accustomed to telegraphic wonders that we fail to pay much attention to matters of this kind.

The public meeting held at Montreal on Saturday last to take into consideration the late Fenian raid had a very unfortunate termination. It might have been expected that when the people of the great commercial metropolis met in public assembly to give expression to their sentiments, the proceedings would have been characterized by gravity and decorum.

We regret to say that such was not the case. The Hon. John Young, who it appeared, had not been consulted as to the wording of the various resolutions, introduced a series of resolutions of his own framing, in which were of course embodied his pet theory of Independence.

The consequence was that much confusion and something very much like a "free fight" ensued. Mr. Young tried to get the meeting adjourned, but failed in his object, and the resolutions given in another column were all passed.

ANOTHER BID FOR CANADA. At the request of several of his countrymen, the Hon. Elijah Ward has published a statement of his views as to the commercial system most worthy of consideration by the people of the United States and Canada.

Mr. Ward, like many of his countrymen, takes it for granted that some important change is about to take place in the political position of this country, and recommends the establishment of a Zollverein or commercial union similar to that of Germany, manufactures to be admitted free from each country into the other, and no higher duty levied in one than in the other on iron, copper, wool, materials in part manufactured, &c.

The benefits which, in Mr. Ward's opinion, would result from the establishment of such a system are very numerous. He thinks that the commercial prosperity of both Canada and the United States would be very much promoted, the factory question would be settled, and the Americans would no longer be subject to the constant temptation of wanting to obtain the property of their neighbors as now they are.

Above all it would insure Canadian independence of all British connection, and bring about a closer union with the United States.

We believe that Mr. Ward has given the subject of trade relations with Canada a great amount of consideration, and that his views on this subject will be favorably received by a large number of his countrymen. A scheme almost exactly similar to that which he recommends, was proposed some years since by the Hon. Isaac Buchanan, but it was felt then that a portion of the British Empire to enter into an agreement of this nature with a foreign nation, was out of the question, and to-day there are many more reasons existing to forbid it than there then were.

The position of the two countries is so entirely different, that it is not possible that tariff arrangements which would suit Canada, would be acceptable to the people of the United States. All the benefits which could be obtained by a Zollverein would result from a fairly arranged treaty of reciprocity, with all being accompanied by difficulties which render the idea of the former unapplicable to Canada.

The people of this country will, we doubt not, be disposed to regard Mr. Ward's letter as another bid for the annexation of this country. The objection of reciprocity having proved a failure, the temptation of a free continental system warranted to secure our agricultural, manufacturing and commercial prosperity, is now held out to us. It is quite possible that Mr. Ward argues in good faith, but a very hasty perusal of his brochure will enable the reader to see that he is quite ignorant as to the condition of public feeling in this country. That he should be so, is the natural result of the grave misrepresentations which are from time to time made in the columns of American newspapers, concerning Canadian affairs.

As we remarked only yesterday, the people of this country will at any time be ready to listen to any proposals emanating from Washington, having for their object the establishment of reciprocal free trade relations upon terms which shall be fair and advantageous to both countries. That two countries situated as Canada and the United States are, should be divided by a "Chinese wall of customs," is, to say the least, manifestly unwise, but it is to be thought erected the barrier to pull it down when they think proper. In the meantime, the duty of Canada is clear—Loyalty to the developing every branch of its industry, and promoting an international trade by all the means in their power. There are other markets also which must not be neglected. The West Indies and South America pay a large amount to the United States every year, for commodities which we could supply on more favorable terms. When the Americans have exhausted every means of starving, frightening, or cajoling us into annexation or "independence," possibly they may seriously think about negotiating for another treaty. Our policy, however, is very plain, viz.—to develop our own resources, and build up our own domestic trade relations; that whether reciprocal free trade with the United States ever comes or not, our future progress and prosperity may be well assured.

THE MISSISSIPPI ELECTION. The "position" in Mississippi just now seems to be rather a singular one. Mr. G. W. Stephens and Mr. Lewis Kay, two wealthy gentlemen from Montreal, invite the electors of Mississippi to return as their representative, one Mr. Hogell, whom no one knows anything about, and in favor of whom all that his friend could urge was, that he was a very wealthy man. For some reason Mr. Hogell thought it best not to appear on the scene in propria persona, but left it to his friends to enlarge with all the eloquence at their command, on the extent of his wealth, and the amount of his greenbacks, the utter villainy of the present administration, and the vast superiority of Republican institutions over those which we now enjoy.

Mr. Hogell and his friends, basing their opinion upon what they have seen of elections in the United States, evidently imagine that an election is simply a matter of money, and that the electors of Mississippi, like the larger proportion of the free and independent citizens of the neighboring Republic can be bought at so much a head. It is evidently not considered necessary that the electors should enjoy the privilege of a sight of their would-be representative; a few hints from his friends as to the extent of his pecuniary resources, a few false and malicious charges against the Government, this is all that is deemed needful. We shall watch the struggle in Mississippi with interest, because it is evidently a conflict between greenbacks and principle. No one pretends to suppose that if the electors were allowed without any outside interference to decide between Mr. Baker whom they know, and Mr. Hogell, of whom few of them have ever heard, there would be much chance of the latter being elected. Not all the eloquence of even such men as Messrs. Dorion, Stephens and Kay would be of any avail for him. But all that money can do will be done by the "greenback party." United States money will be expended without stint in the hope of corrupting the people of Mississippi. Mr. Hogell and his friends evidently believe that money is all powerful, that the longest purse insure to win the day, and that patriotism and principle have no chance when interest prevails in another direction. It is possible, however, that these gentlemen may find themselves mistaken after all. Money will, doubtless, do a very great deal, but there are some things which it cannot accomplish. The corruption of the Mississippi electors may be one of these. We do not suppose that this mysterious gentleman, of whom few people seem to have heard, and still fewer have ever seen, can do much mischief to any one, if he is elected to Parliament. But if he still resembles his friends from Montreal who appeared for him, he certainly is ill fitted to represent the loyal county of Mississippi, and for the credit of the electors, we sincerely hope that his greenbacks will fail to produce the results expected by him and his party.

A WELL MERITED COMPLIMENT. Some days since we had great pleasure in copying into these columns an account of a demonstration given in honor of Mr. William Wainwright, of the Grand Trunk Railway, on the occasion of his obtaining leave of absence to proceed to Europe for the benefit of his health. The demonstration took the form of a public dinner, and was attended by many of the foremost business men of the commercial metropolis, as well as by several distinguished strangers, one of whom was General McClellan, who happened to be in Montreal at the time. It was a demonstration which many a public man of high standing would have felt himself highly honored in receiving; and being bestowed upon a comparatively young man who has been in Canada but a few years, must have been exceedingly gratifying to him. Yet if Mr. Wainwright is a young man, it must be admitted that he carries a very old head on his shoulders, and though his residence in Canada has not been a very extended one, it has been quite long enough for him to have made for himself very many warm and steadfast friends throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. On behalf of those friends we wish Mr. Wainwright a safe passage across the Atlantic, and a speedy restoration to good health.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS. We are glad to notice that the walk around the Burnside Hill Cliff, which was constructed by the Government last summer, has had several additional rustic seats placed in it, for the benefit of those of our citizens who avail themselves of the delightful promenade. Major's Hill, too, which forms one of the finest pieces of pleasure ground on the continent, is to be improved on the fastidious hand of Mr. Languevin. Labourers have been engaged for several days in levelling the ground and cutting down decayed timber; the unsightly fence around the canal-keeper's residence has been greatly curtailed, (we hope before long to see it entirely removed), and a number of seats placed in the Park. For all these benefits, and they are benefits of no inconsiderable value, our citizens have to thank the Minister of Public Works.

SUMMARY. DOMINION. Thomas Carlyle is said to have a sister and several nieces living in Hamilton, Ontario. He has several relatives in Pennsylvania, and one in New York.

Mr. William Young, the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, when about to open the Circuit Court at Cape Breton was taken ill, and it is said that he has since recovered, and that he will be unable to resume work for some months.

A first class ticket, from Halifax to San Francisco, now only costs $135.50. Cheap travelling is becoming a reality.

A slight accident occurred during the planting of the trees at Knowlton that was far from showing that His Royal Highness has no congenial opinions as to the place where he will be able to resume work. Col. Duncker's gentleman, Mr. Bartlett, in hauling the oak to the Highways, and assisting him to plant it, placed his foot on the handle of the saw, and being immediately called to another part of the grounds to see the planting of the others, left it behind him. The Prince took up the handle and followed him to the place where he was at work, and gave it to him, saying as he did so: "Would he please to take his last?"

The St. John's News says: "The Water Lily" has been discovered in the harbor of St. John's, which she is to receive here. Her small arms were put on board at Halifax, and the crew, a fine-looking lot of men, were taken on board at St. John's, under the superintendence of the first lieutenant, who also acts as drill instructor.

Mr. H. M. S. Church has just arrived in St. John's from New York, having returned from a tour of inspection in the United States. He is a very energetic man, and is expected to do much good in the Dominion.

A fatal accident occurred on the Grand Rapids railway a few days since. A whiskey detective is making his way amongst the unlicensed dealers in N. B.

A day or two ago a fire occurred near Shannonville Station, destroying about 80 cords of wood. Several fires have also occurred in the woods in that vicinity.

The Rev. Mr. Dickson, of the Presbyterian Church, Belleville, who is about removing to this city, has been presented with a handsome gold watch by the members of his congregation.

The Belleville Intelligence says:—From all parts of the more southern townships of this County and Prince Edward, we have very much to regret the loss of the Rev. Mr. Rogers, which will not fall short of the average yield. Late snow which especially has suffered, Hay and straw will be very scarce next winter, and farmers are now disposing of much of their surplus.

Several car loads of grain have been conveyed over the Wellington, Grey & Bruce railway.
