Ottawa to the Convent of Notre Dame du Sacre Cœur, Rideau Street, Ottawa.

At two o'clock yesterday His Lordship visited this, the oldest religious educational establishment in the city. He was received by a large assemblage of ladies and gentlemen, and the pupils of the Convent, numbering nearly two hundred.

The Chapel of the Convent was beautifully decorated, the pillars were entwined with drapery and flowers. The festooning was very graceful; it bore the legend " au war and adjust certain questions springing Prince de l'Eglise; au Pere du Concile, Amour, et Respect." A neat stage had mounted by the insignia of the Episcopate. Throughout the delicate taste of the good simple, yet beautiful - the recep some advantages, and bid the authorities ent.
