GALVANIC CHAIN-BANDS BELTS, AND POCKET BATTERIES,

These highly improved inventions render Electricity perfectly self-applicable, and +xtremely efficacious in a mild continuous form, no shock or unpleasant sensation being experienced, whereby it becomes a true fountain of health and vigour, speedily soothing agonising pains, re-animating torpid limbs, reviving the sluggish functions of life, and imparting renewed energy and vitality to constitutions enfeebled by whatever canque Medicines and their deleterious consequences are thus entirely dispensed with. The daily increasing number of cures effected by PULVERMACHER'S MEDICO GALVAN-IC SYSTEM is so extensive and veried, that it forcibly points to this invention as the embryo of a unive sal remedy. Autumn Woods. Ere in Northern gale The summer tresses of the trees are gone. The woods of autumn, all around our vale, Have put their glory on.

The mountains that unfold In their wide sweep, the coloured landscape round Seem groups of giant kings in purple and in gold, That guard enchanted ground. I roam the woods that crown
The upland, where the mingled splendours glow;
Where the gay company of trees look down
On the greenfield below.

My steps are not alone In these bright walks; the sweet south-west, Flies, nestling, where the painted leaves are strewn Along the winding way, And far in heaven, the while, The sun that sends the gale to wander here, Pours out on the fair earth his quiet smile-The sweetest of the year.

Let in through all the trees

Come the strange rays; the forest depths are bright
Their sunny-colored foliage, in the breeze,
Twinkles like beams of light, Where, flickering through the shrubs, its waters ru Shines with the image of its golden screen, And glimmerings of the sun.

But 'neath you crimson tree, Lover to listening maid might breathe his flame, Nor mark, within its roseats canopy, Her blush of maiden shame. Oh, autumn! why so soon Depart the hues that make the forest glad ; Thy gentle wind and thy fair sunny noon.
And leave thee wild and sad?

The cure replied that they had had them, but did not then possess them. The Prussians, wishing to make sure, instituted a search, and found fifty guns hidden in the church, under the altar, probably at the cure's instigation. The general ordered fifty inhabi- treal. tants of the village to be arrested and taken to Orleans for execution on the mor- dren of Widder. row. Among them were an old man and his son, a youth of 16, who were accused of having fired on the Prussians. Mgr. Dupanloup, the bishop, hearing of the affair sent an impassioned appeal to the Psussian general, who, after reading it, went to the barracks where the prisoners were detained, and having summoned them before him, said impressively, "You deserved death, and military justice sentenced you to it, but I pardon you. Only remember always that you owe yours lives to your bishop." Mgr.
