Having a fine voice, exceedingly well cultivated, and with rare histrionic talent, Mademoiselle Rosa D'Erina, held a highly intellectual audience, as if spellbound, lips. In Italian, in French, in Spanish, honest English undefiled, in the broad Doric of Scotland, or the rich brogue of the Green Isle - Miss D' Erina was superb. Her " Home sweet h me" equalled that of Madame Anna Bishop; her "Comin' thro' the Rye," that of Miss Greenheart the "Black Swan," and some of her notes she might have been mistaken for that Queen of song in the effulgence of her gifts, the fimous Jenny Lind. Miss Rosa D'Erina, who has hob-nobbed with the first lady of fashion, the Empress of Eugenie, and the future Queen of England, the Princess Al-xundra, is decide lly a musical celebrity. Instructed by Duprez, she might have been educated by a Bishop, as .he is the compeer of a Hays. Ottawa, January 23, 1872. We are quite sure she will have a large
