THE FISHERY CORRESPONDENCE.

It is understood that the Fishery correspondence to be laid on the table to-day, will disclose that the Dominion Government has not been ready to consent to the Fisheries without her consent.

As the negotiation of the Treaty of Washington proceeded, the Canadian Government urged the inclusion of the Fenian claims, and also the obtaining of commercial trade advantages in return for the temporary use of the Fisheries by the Americans.

The Canadian Government declined to grant this latter permission and placed on record their disapproval of the terms of the Treaty, & regarding the Fisheries and the Fenian claims.

The British Government rejoined, and eventually the Canadian Government proposed that in liquidation of the Fenian claims against Britain, and to meet the anxious desire of the British Government, they would be ready to submit the Treaty for the favourable consideration of the Canadian Parliament.

The Marquis of Dufferin has married the daughter of Lord Howard. The Gladstone government have sustained a defeat on the Ballot Bill, and the indications are that they will soon have to resign office.

The answer to Earl Granville's second note left Washington yesterday. The statements given as to its contents is founded upon conjecture only.

Mr. Keen Buchanan, the well known actor, died at Denver on Tuesday last.

TORONTO.

To-morrow, April 17. A mass meeting was held on St. Lawrence Square last night to express sympathy with the members of the vigilance committee who were arrested yesterday, and to denounce the action taken by the mass printers.

GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA.

We notice with regret that several of the leading organs of the Opposition, have lately adopted a tone in speaking of the relations existing between Canada and the Mother Country, that to say the least of it is most ill-judged, and is calculated to lead one to suppose that they are not desirous of seeing this country annexed to the United States.

This point being acknowledged, we are quite ready to admit that many circumstances might arise which would render it difficult, and in fact impossible for Canadian statesmen to act in full accord with those of Great Britain, but under such circumstances, what would be the minister's duty? To declare at once that Imperial policy was antagonistic to their own, and likely to be detrimental to the interests of Canada? or to point out to the Imperial Government what was objectionable, to remonstrate, to protest if need be, and so endeavour to have the Imperial policy modified and shaped in such a way as would be satisfactory to Canada? Can any one doubt that as statesmen and patriots they would be bound to pursue the latter course? Not until every effort had been made would the Colonial Ministers be justified in adopting a policy antagonistic to that of the Imperial Government on matters in which Imperial interests were involved.

The Globe pretends that this doctrine is calculated to "disgrace loyal people," and to encourage a feeling in favour of independence. From the line recently adopted by our contemporary, we are led to believe that he is not by any means capable of giving expression to the feelings of "loyal people." It is simply an insult alike to the loyalty and to the common sense of Canadians to suppose that they would be "disgraced" because in dealing with Imperial questions we were compelled, from motives of policy as well as by a sense of duty, to have some regard for the wishes of the Imperial Government.

There is nothing new nor strange in this proposition. The people of this generation have recognized its truth more than once, and have shown that when Imperial interests demanded sacrifices at their hands they were ready to make them. And this they have done not from mere sentiment alone, but because they recognized the value of the connection with Great Britain and were willing to pay the necessary price in order to maintain it. In 1861 they did not stop to ask whether the material interests of Canada would suffer if Mason and Slidell were not given up. All they knew was that the honour of the Empire demanded their surrender, and straightaway almost every able bodied man in the country sprang to arms. The "loyalty" of the Canadian people is a plant of a hardier sort and more deeply rooted than the Globe intimates.

So much we have written in support of a general principle, which, as it appears to us, cannot be too generally considered and appreciated, inasmuch as the very existence of the Colonial Empire of Great Britain depends upon its due application. Fortunately for us no special application of it is likely to be required of us at present, nor are the people of this country called upon to make any important sacrifice for the sake of the imperial connection and all the priceless advantages attendant thereupon.

The story about a rupture between France and Germany is pronounced untrue. The Marquis of Dufferin has married the daughter of Lord Howard. The Gladstone government have sustained a defeat on the Ballot Bill, and the indications are that they will soon have to resign office.

of one of the fathers of Responsible Government, leaving the matter of policy for the Government to be found by the Secretary of the House.

Mr. HOLTON thoroughly understood the motion, and was glad that the motion had been made in so eloquent terms by his friend, the honourable member for Hamilton, but, nevertheless, thought the best mode of proceeding was not acting consistently with his previously expressed opinions.

After presentation of a number of Petitions from Dominion Bond Trade, Grand Trunk Railroad Company, Montreal & Champlain Railroad Company, Shipowners and Ship Chandlers of Ontario, &c.

Mr. Mr. SANBORN gave notice that he would move for copies of all correspondence between the Dominion Government and the Government of Quebec, with respect to the Provincial Arbitration.

Mr. Mr. CAMPBELL laid on table list of Standing Committees of the Senate, which Government intended moving.

Mr. Mr. BOISFORD gave notice that he would move for an address, praying for return, giving certain information respecting European & North American Railroad, and that portion of the Intercolonial Railroad, extending to Amherst, &c.

Mr. Mr. CAMPBELL presented Address from His Excellency the Governor General, laying before the House certain Census returns.
