GENTLEMEN, -On the eve of a general election, Pembroke townsfolk, wise in cance. When the lines were worked by their generation, seeing the temporary the companies an annual augmentation of prosperity of their little town about to pass away from it, seek to avert the evil of the North Shore by appropriating to themselves the representation of the County of Pontiac. To this end, Mr. Thomas Murray, a shrewd, active and intelligent gentleman, an extensive mer. chant of Pembroke, has been started on a missionary tour through the County, to convince the electors of Pontiac that the politicians of Ontario have a deeper love for their well being than have those of Lower Canada; that nationality is a mere sentiment, and counts for nothing; that our laws and institutions are not worth the preserving; and that our interests generally are safer in the hands of a grasping majority from Ontario than in those of a Quebec minority. This task somewhat difficult, it would seem, has been allotted to Mr. Murray, under the belief that certain qualities personal to himself would induce a portion of the electors to take him on trust irrespective of any of his previous public acts. How far the electors of Pontiac may allow of he nervous and muscular system I ney conremains to be seen. In the meantime there are three questions, out of the host which present themselves, that should be so materially our interests. 1: Will Mr. Murray, with his large stake link have grown up around him: with fresh in his memory the pledges but taree short years ago he made to the people of Renfrew, standing before them as their representative in Parliament; with ties of family friendships and motives of self-interest all pointing to an opposite course,will Mr. Murray, in the face of all these feelings by which men are ordinarily influenced; be the first to pull down the fabric of his foudest hopes, and heart and hand assist the people of Pontiac in securing the construction of the Pacific Road from Nipissing to Deep River, and thence through Pontiac to the village of Aylmer, the present terminus of the N. C. R. R.?-a road which must necessarily destroy the importance of Pembroke and leave it the wreck of disappointed expectations. It would be too great a cruelty to ask such a sacrifice at Mr. Murray's hands; yet the future hopes seriously considered, affecting, as they do

As regards the canalization of the Ottay morning. The chimne was plank in the Government platform, and a work soon (if our members are true to themselves and possess the influence their numbers entitle them to) to be accome plished, -Will Mr. Murray urge the carry. ing out of this work on the north shore of the Ottawa, the natural site for the canal -will be urge the expenditure of the $25,000 already granted, and future grants, at the Culbute, and destroy an important industry in the l'ownship of Ross, -whom people, although differing from him is religion, gave him a loyal support and secured his election, -to restore it to its natural channel through the Township of Litchfield? Is he so ungrateful to the and superb troupe of men of Ross, - who, in spite of influence and prejudice, gave him their votes,-as to take the bread out of their mouths and put it in that of a stranger? Will be make the Cobden line a thing of the past, and transform Eden's Garden into a howling wilderness? Will be commercial man as he is, and fully aware of the penalty attached, deliberately place Pembroke and his own business establishments tacive, if not more, miles outside of the direct route of travel? And yet the electors of Pembroke require all this from their member-they require Portage du Fort, Havelock and the Chapeau to replace Gould's Wharf, Cobden and Pembroke, and the future sown of the Upper Uttawa to spring up at the junction of the railway with river navigation on the north shore. Can this be asked from Mr. Murray? Can he be expected to be all things to all men-one day promising one thing to Kenfrew, and the next another thing to Pontine?

3. Come we now to the third and (at least for the present) the last question --Will Mr. Murray admit that the sward, respecting the settlement of gebts between the two Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, by two of the Arbitrators, appointed under the terms of the British North America Act 1867, made at the City of Toronto, on the 3rd September, 1871, in the absence of, and against the consent of the Arbitrator for the Province of Quebec (the Hon. Judge Day), was not a final one, and was, moreover, an unjust one, detrimental to the best interests of them a burden heavier than they of the people, endorsed by the voice of th the Provincial Legislature of Quebec, who also unanimously repudiste the award Bri- as a gigantic fraud.
