OLD COUNTRY NOTES. The Lancet states that at a recent Volunteer review, near Manchester, the men suffered severely from the heat, one battalions alone having thirteen cases of syncope; happily none were fatal.

The 25th birthday of the Duke of Edinburgh was commemorated at Windsor with the usual Royal honours. The bells of St. George's Chapel and the parish church rang merrily bells at intervals during the day, and a Royal salute was fired in the Long walk by the Royal Bombardiers.

A splendid new pier was opened at Hastings, England, by Earl Granville, on Aug. 19. The pier is 910 feet long, and is also a splendid pier, suitable for yachts and boats capable of accommodating 2,000 persons.

Miss Ellen Edmonds, a young lady of "prepossessing appearance and fascinating manner," was charged at the Manchester police court recently with having seduced a male friend in broad day, and in a crowded bazaar. Evidence was given for the fair prisoner to the effect that the young man had given with the present magistrate the charge of "gross indecency" to the defendant, whom he had courted and then insultingly cast off.

Strangling, remarks the Wrexham Advertiser, appears to have become a favourite pastime among the prisoners confined in the Bridewell, Wrexham. A drunken man hangs himself by means of a strap, used to hold up his unmentionables; an inebriated man, and the police officer is reminded of having taken away the article used to accomplish such a feat.

A correspondent of the Standard Independent writes: On Sunday night at Swanton, John Taylor, a potter's kilnman, went to a field near the river to fight with a large dog known as "North's Jack." He was accompanied by the son of a actor by a large dog. The fight was a long and severe one, but the Norfolk man, Stewart, finally got the best of "North's Jack" and killed the dog.
