LOCAL NEWS.

There is no better Spring and Summer medicine than the Cascadia Water. It is liberally used, no Doctor need apply. Gussos & Co., Agents.

CEMETERY MEETING.

A meeting of the Cemetery general committee took place in the Mechanics Institute last night. Rev. Mr. Lauder occupied the chair and Mr. Magee acted as Secretary.

THE HORSE DISEASE.

The horse disease is abating in this city, and the prospects are that in a few weeks there will be few traces of it remaining. The street cars are running as usual, and the company's horses are all improving.

COOL BURGESS.

The great comedian, the veritable Cool Burgess, gives an entertainment in the Music Hall to night. Cool is still himself, full of rollicking humor, unbridled gaiety and extravagant gesture.

SCIENCE.

A young man named Charles Duff committed suicide recently at Brantford, by cutting his throat with a razor. Another victim of disappointed love. The country poet refers to the event in the following manner: "He loved a lady full and fair, But lo! he offer to 'muse her; So in the deepest of despair He cut his whittle with a razor."

POLICE COURT.

William Atkinson was fined $2 and costs for drunkenness. Joseph Carriou charged with vagrancy was let go. James Gold was charged with selling liquor without license. The case was dismissed for want of evidence.

ARTIFICIAL LEGS.

Another remarkable case is mentioned in a late number of the British Medical Journal. In 1869, Dr. Bigg of Dundee amputated the limbs of the extremities of a young woman named Robertson, as they were in a gangrenous condition. After the operation the girl was cured, and Mr. Heaster Bigg constructed for her a pair of automatic hands, opening and shutting at the will of the patient.

HALLOWEEN.

Halloween was no doubt duly observed last night, and many of the old and time-honored customs peculiar to that occasion, indulged in affording delight and enjoyment to householders of young folk. These old customs were referred to, however, strictly they may be treasured among the mountains and glens of Scotland, certain it is that in the Dominion they are slowly but surely being consigned to the grave of oblivion.
