Prospects of the Papacy.

The Papal organ, the "Vox Divitiae," contains an article in reply to statements made by some Italian and foreign newspapers concerning the conduct of the Cardinals which will be held for the election of a successor to Pope Pius IX.

The Vox divitiae says: "Foreign powers never could claim as a right the power of excluding a candidate from election; this privilege was merely a concession made by the cardinals in favor of some Catholic sovereigns who protected the church. At the present time this power belongs to the government, for a government professes the principles of religious equality. In any case, non-Catholic government will not have to be consulted, and very little heed will be given to any advice from the same Republics of France and Spain." With regard to the possibility of a foreign cardinal being elected, the article says: "The Pope must be an Italian, because every nation to which he belongs is represented in the same language, and because the Pope is the sovereign of a State which the Italians themselves will certainly restore to him."

Woodhill.

Victoria C. Woodhill dropped dead of heart disease last evening, at her house in New York city. Her notorious career as an actress and dancer, and her career as a singer and practitioner of the most abominable doctrines of free love, and her shameless conduct of the weekly periodical she published, are familiar to the public. Her greatest notoriety of late years has been in connection with the charges against the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, which she retailed so offensively and so pertinaciously. Her death removes one of the greatest fomenters of scandal.
