

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY.—A long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful and independent nation came the dissolution of France through a series of events and defeat, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of Fructus from the Spanish throne, and the substitution of others of the most despotic among royal houses; the virtual abolition of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurttemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the leadership of Prussia into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the rise of Russia to re-assert her pre-eminence in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast domain of the Black Sea. The world, in short, all combine to invest with profound interest the ever-vigilant phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents, points a Europe where great movements are in progress, and aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Despotism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century Capitalism and Democracy on the other. Recognizing a Divine Providence in the proceeds and its, it looks hopefully on the result to come from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, to achieve a happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.
