Scarcely had the echo of the female the canyon gorges before the "who town had turned out." Trembling women were running hither and thither, all searching for a place of safety, but no one knowing where to go to get away from the dread destroyer. A snow-slide had descended on the camp, and though the bulk of the avalanche had rested at the light the unhappy denizens of the place half expected that at the next moment they would be buried and crushed in a bank of treacherous snow. After the first shock was over, which lasted but a minute, the frightened senses of the people were partially restored to order and useful activity, and with one object in view all rushed up the street to the elevated bench on the north side of Alta, some carrying lanterns, others shovels, that could be used in digging through the snow. About fifteen rods from the busi- of receipts, there being, in addition, sevof chaos presented itself. The snow was piled up to the depth of thirty feet, and projecting from the packed surface were large boulders, heavy experienced within a twelvemonths. Light tion of what had once been a dwelling equalied the trade to perceptibly dimihouse. In less time than it would require to relate it scores of hardy miners were unable to perceptibly diminish the supply of stale stock until towards actively at work digging. While thus engaged a faint cry of "Help," came through trading being done at $5.75 to 6.75 for the state of the supply of stale stock until towards the close of the week. The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their truitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience of rafinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving mational changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commercial and in th, and of whose lives every one is curiou he newspapers or in the transient publication of the day, but which ought now to take the In preparing the present edition for the press it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the
