THICK SKINS AND THIN SKINS. It seems to be a fact that the sons Erin are in a certain degree losing some of their national characteristics, and b and by we shall have to find other shoulders to bear the burden of all the "bulls" hitherto upon Patrick's. With other peculiarities common to the Irish race, of both Continents. For a number it is generally believed that they are able in an extraordinary degree to "take and give," in the matter of compliments that are not compliments, with considerable equanimity, not only in oracular blows, but also in tips of the blackthorn in time honoured Donnybrook, where the motto was, "wherever you see a head, hit it." This at one time pleased the specimen Irishman mightily, nothing better in fact; but as he goes out into the world he forgets his likes and dislikes, and a blow to an Irishman becomes the same blow to any other body. and instead of hitting out in return, he seeks the protection of forms and privileges. Much discussion has recently oc. curred both in the Imperial and Dominion Parliaments, over questions of privilege, Emerald Isle or their descendants. Some time ago, Mr. Lopes, a distinguished member of the Imperial Parliament, in an afterdinner speech at Frome, characterised the Home Rulers as a "disreputable Iris's band; but instead of retaliating in the same sivle, the "band" banded together, and desuted Mr. Sullivan to call the peccant member to account on the opening of Parliament. In Prince Edward Island they received an unconditional grant of a tract of land, and the right to erect telegraph lines on the island, and extend a cable to New Brunswick. He was a member of the island Government for ten years, and took part in the arrangements made with this company. The Newfound land Act was passed in the same way as that of Prince Edward Island, granting Sir A. T. Galt, K. C. M. G. the company all the rights and privilege required. With regard to the pretension that the Anglo-American Company did not possess the rights granted the New York, Newfoundland, and London Company, he contended that all the rights and nmunities belonging to the former were succeeded to by the present company at the time of the amalgamation. Therefore the Anglo-American, being the successors to the former company, fell heir to their rights and privileges in Prince Edward sland. (Hear, hear.) In September last the Government of this Dominion entered into a solemn contract with the Anglo-American Company in Prince Edward Island to secure the erection or extension y them of a telegraph line of 200 miles along the railway. Now, if the company have no rights and privileges there, why should the Government have stultified itself by entering into a contract with this distasteful company?
