The bronze goods, works of art, and silverware at Bermingbam's sale rooms, are the topic of the day, and deservedly so, for we must confess we never saw a finer display of goods. The bronze statuary, well as pheasants, groups of wirds, urns,

&c , &c., are gems of art. Marble clocks, of beautiful designs and workmanship, surmounted with handsome bronze figures, are far above anything ever seen here pefore. The bronze marble horses attract mmediate attention, as they are finely executed, and the serres Dresden, Japan-ese, and other China vases, are of superior style and finish. The consignment is certainly a most valuable one, and Mr.

Bermingham deserves great credit for oringing such fine goods to this city. The sale commenced yesterday, and was coninued last night, when quite a large amount of the stock was sold. This evening and every evening for the next ten days the sale will be continued at 7.30, and as the agent has positive orders not to bring away any goods from here, great bargains may be expected. Private sale every day at auction prices. Auction sale

Those played last evening were the overture to the Cheval de Bronze the Scholzando and Adagio, Mendelssohn (op. 87) a scene from Tunhauser, selection from William Tell, Allequetto and Presto movements from Beethoven's seventh symphony, and Fraumarca (reverse) Schumann, the two latter by special request. The perfect unison and xpression which characterize the execution of the members of the Quintette are so well known and appreciated, and have been so repeat dly referred to, that t is unnecessary to say more than that their efforts last evening were as highly appreciated as on any previous occasion, and were rewarded with hearty applause. If any one of the accomplished singers, who have lately appeared amongst us, may be said to hold a foremost place, that lady is undoubtedly Mrs, Carter, who appeared last evening or the first time before an Ottawa Aulience. Although this lady cannot lay laim to the phenomenal range and flexibility so peculiarly the gift of Ilma de Mursks, she possesses these qualities to very remarkable extent, while in fresh ness and vigour of tone she is certainly the superior of the popular Hungarian orima donna. Her sendering of the luce di quest anima, last evening, drew forth enthusiastic applause, and a demand for an encore which could not well be refused. Considering the very sparse attendance. Mrs. Carter's condescension in singing two pieces beyond those dlotted to her in the programme, the Bollere from the Sicilian Vespers (verdi) and the pretty Weish melody "The Missing Boat" speaks highly for her amiability; and we trust to have the cleasure of hearing her on a future oc casion when, doubtless, there will be a much larger audience present. DEAR SIR,- As the public mind is considerably agitated over the appointment with them; and it may not unreasonably of Principal and masters for the Normal school, about to be opened in this city. deem it a proper time to introduce a liscussion upon the subject. In this matter, as in all others, there will, no doubt, be a diversity of opinion; so that in the outset I may say it is not expected that the standard of qualifica ion laid down in this paper, will be endorsed in all its details; but it is to be hoped that there will be such a unanimity sentiment on the essential points, as shall drive from the field those candidates ho seek the position through political and sectarian influences; or what is still worse through their absolute ignorance of the duties they shall be expected to perform. We have men amongst us who save passed through our Universities with onours, also through our Normal Schools and to this have a ided years of experience in actual teaching, yet they would hesitate about accepting a situation to which such heavy responsibilities are attached whilst among the aspirants to the imporant position of Head Master, we find not few who are unacquainted with even the elements of teaching-in fact, the veriest tyros in the art. In the following I shall confine my remarks to what should constitute the ualifications of Head Master. You would never think of elevating a man to a judgeship, on account of high rank in the clerical sphere nor to the ministry, on account of skill in law-yet, I hold, three would be no more
