

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1875.

DOMINION DAY.

The people of Ottawa, in common with all the people of Canada, yesterday celebrated the anniversary of the Confederation of the Provinces originally compos ing the Dominion of Canada. The day was worthy of the honour done it. The results of Confederation have been greate than its most sanguine advocates ima they have been so great tha even those who were most bitterly op posed to the proposition have not only become reconciled to the fact, but confer that all their fears were unfounded and the Union a complete success. Uf course we are not yet entirely free from sections jealousies, nor are certain of our publi men patriotic enough to refuse oppo tunities of making political capital against their opponents from this source have been anticipated, and sectionalism broad and liberal spirit which re cognises only the general good, even i that may have to be purchased occassionally at the expense of some incon venience, or at any rate without any positive benefit, to the few. But the suc cess of Confederation i pparent no alone to ourselves, who a primarily in terested; it has won the admiration the intelligent observers of progress over the world. It has illustrated in a most forcible way the elasticity of British institutions, and the adaptibility every age and every stage of civilization. It has tended to the individual prosperity of every Province in the Dominion ; it has tended to the prosperity of the people, and it has given us an importance to the Mother Country, and a place among the nationalities of the world, which in a divided form we could never have com manded. Yet we are only beginning to realize its benefits, which will accumulate as do the years, and multiply with the lapse of time. The machinery has scarcely had time to get into proper working order, and yet how marvellously smooth and harmonious have been its operations-It is sincerely to be hoped that the cele bration of Dominion Day will never have cause to lack in its heartiness. The pro gramme which the citizens of Ottawa laid down for themselves yesterday was well carried out, and was by no means un worthy of the occasion. It was, however, unlike the results of that which it was intended to commercrate, an unorganized effort, spasmodic, owing its force to no centrical agent, and having no common aim except the general desire to celebrate.

been waged with more than usual warmth, is now nearing its climax has been attempted to evaded by the Ministerial party, but with little success. They are the sworn allies their fellow citizens. If there could be any doubt as to the identity of the two parties, it would be dispelled when it is noticed that Cuimet, Archambault, Chapleau and their confreres in the Tanne ries transaction are the warmest advocates and most energetic supporters of the present Quebec Government. There does not appear to be a doubt that the people of Quebec, notwithstanding the attempts made to bamboozle them, will render a verdict of condemnation alike against the authors of that scandal ous proceeding, and those who have so far succeeded in screening them from the just retribution which should overtake them. The DeBoucherville Government are likely to be a Government for but a be as certain and as complete as the rout of their leader when he met Mr. next. place at Hull on Wednesday, and notwithstanding the rumour that two were to withdraw from the contest, all the candidates deposited the necessary money and nomination papers, and appear determined to go to the poll. It is doubtful, however, whether more than two are qualified to be elected, in consequence of irregularities in their nomination papersand it is not improbable that the fi, be entirely between Messrs. Edu, Foran. Messrs. Duhamel and Rouleau did not, as they are required by the statute, make the necessary affids vit before the returning officer when depositing their nomination papers, but but instead made it before a magis' trate the previous day. There was considerable excitement in Hull over the matter, and it was stated tout the returning officer intended consulting Attorney-General Church on the subject of the validity of the nominations. It is to be hoped, however, that he did nothing of the kind-that he did not repeat the enormity of the Peter borough returning officer. The Attorney. T. Evans. tieneral would commit a still greater mis take should he give his advice, for it must be admitted that he is anything 2nd, W. Lees. but a disinterested party. The opinion of some independent constitutional lawyer, Hunton. in whom all sides would have confidence as the only one which would be at all admissable. If the contest be between Messas, Eddy and Foran, there sppears to 3rd, D. Cowley. be no room to doubt that the latter will be elected by a considerable majority, the odds would seem to be in Mr. Du. hamel's favour. Except Mr. Foran, who comes squarely out as a Liberal, all the other candidates profess independence. They should, however, give no uncertain sound on the question of voting non-con idence in the Deboucherville Admir stration before they receive the votes of the friends of honest government.

> THE SLAUGHTER-HOUSE NUISANCE.

In the very careful and comprehensive report on the sanitary condition of the ity presented at the close of last year y Dr. Lynn, City Medical Health Officer, the following observations occur :- " All the nuisances which have come under notice during my period of office must fade into insignificance before the abominations which have hitherto done luty as slaughter-houses, in whose fayour, whether as regards structure or maintenance, I have not a word to say.' The same report further says that nothing short of the timely removal of these structures can satisfy the requirements of the public health. ' By such as are aware of the horribly filthy condition o the premises used for slaughtering and reparing meat for consumption in this city, and of the evils which must necessarily result from their presence, these emarks of the duly appointed guardian of the public health must have been reeived with the liveliest satisfaction, being naturally held to portend the adoption of such measures as might appear necessary n the matter of these too long tolerated when such opportunities offer; but nuisances. That these measures have ye the whole the degree of unity attained i to be adopted is, however, tolerably clear much in advance of what might reasonably rom the fact that the buildings not only occupy the same Ground as they did a twelvemonth since, but are actually doing as brisk a business as ever. Both in pper and Lower Town cases of typhoid fever which occurred last year were said to be largely attributable to the presence of the slaughter houses. The epidemic is reported to have broken out again this year in the neighbourhoad of Division street, one case of a virulent type being in the cottage adjoining the slaughtering premises there; and the residents of that locality very reasonably ask why the uivance has not long since been abateda question which we now repeat to the Corporation. What valid excuse can be urged for so long allowing their medical officer's report to remain a dead letter, and for propping up the "abominations' he so emphatically denounced, we are puzzled to conceive. It is of the utmost importance that this nuisance should have immediate attention. Perhaps the Council can spare as much time from the consideration of brick contracts as will enable them to put this matter

VICTORIA WARD PRIMARY SCHOOL The closing exercises of this institution took place on Wednesday. There was present quite a number of parents, Trustees and others, interested in the Boots, Shoes, examined in the various branches taught during the session, and reflected credit on the method of teaching practiced by the several teachers, Mr. Lee's class passed very satisfactory examination in geo graphy, reading, grammar and arithmetic The other three classes, considering the short time this school has been in operation, also did very well. One new feature in this school is the introduction of music as a recreation in the infant classes. The ittle ones sing very well, and evidently enjoy this mode of enlivening the dul routine of the school room. At half-past l o'clock the various classes all assembled in the Principal's room, where the pupils sang a few selections, under the leadership of Mr. Lee. The prospects of the Bessemer as a Channel steamer do not seem to be mending. The swinging saloon which swings easily on land in response to any change in the vessel's level, does not seem to act properly at sea, and even on very mod-erately breezy days the vessel appears to roll, and the saloon with it. Moreover, the ship is so big that it does not seem to obey its helm quite well enough to enable it to enter very small harbours like that at Calais without it inflicts danger to the pier, so that for the present those first class passengers who hoped to be exempt from sea sickness themselves, while able to observe all the miseries on those whose tickets do not admit them to the mag saloon, are but too likely to have their amiable hopes for a time disapp Mr. Bessemer, however, still thinks that he can remedy the defect which renders the self-adjusting hydraulic apparatus of the saloon at present useless.
