The Late ! bortion Case in Toronto.

Fig. m the British American Presbyter.an. Few more painful cases have come before the public than that which has been the subject of general discussion during the past week " connection with the death of the girl Gilmour in Toronto. The i particulars we need not give. They are familiar to all newspaper readers. But the moral to be drawn from the occurrence annot be too strongly dwelt upon. Much outery is made about the crime of aborion and its increasing frequency i Canada. Nothing too strong can be said in its condemnation. But there is just the danger that in denouncing it, sight be lost of the preceding immorality which makes abortion desirable, and as many hink, necessary. Of the increasing immorality in Canada there can be no doubt whatever. Talk with old ministers, or even with those not much beyond middle life, and they will tell you that for years upon years they never had in their churches a case of discipline in reference to breaches of the Seventh Commandment, and that when such a case turned up the parties concerned were so &c. much condemned in the neighbourhood as to be glad to leave. Not a single minisstory now. The hold forward bearing of many of our young women in their intercour-e with youths of the other sex is no orious, as it is general, and no wonder at all erefore, that the number of falls should e steadily on the increase. In cities and towns the behaviour of very many young women is more like that of common street walkers than of modest virtuous girls, and the excuse that they are fond of fun and frelie is a poor one. Let any one go along Yonge street of a Saturday or Sabbath evening, and he would fancy that the inmates of all the brothels of the country had broken loose. Nor is Toronto, for its size worse than other places. A large portion of our young women are apparently such fools, if nothing worse, that they o not understand and will not be taught that no man, however rude and uncultivated, ever uses undue liberties with the woman whom he loves. If woman could only n ost deadly kind for any man to say o do or look, anything approaching to indelicacy in their presence, and if they would but resent it accordingly, it would be something. But they don't. Afraid of being thought prudes, they become mere tom boys, and are ruined in reputation before, it may be, they are ruined in fact. If women could be made to understand that never since the woman being seduced by the man who loved her, and never will be, it might put her on her guard. Many women, we doubt not, have fallen because of their love for those who had become to them who defaced and degraded the object of all in all. But there never was a man his sincere and honest affection. Every true man could tell that in the nature of things it is impossible. There may come . Hecker. pity for his victim afterwards, and re morse for the wrong he has done, which may lead him to make all the reparation possible, but therewas, and there is in all that, not love. Nay, in the midst of all his contrition there will be a certain acked so much of maiden modesty | and inherent self-respect as that it should be possible that she could be seduced. cent proposals could be made, and every nen who makes such, declares that he men to respect them more than now, alone since Moody and Sankey went there, with chivalrous delicacy and nawavering and all of it voluntarily.

MR. AND MRS. MOSTINGER'S CONFLICT WITH THE ROCKING CHAIR.

From the Onio State Journal. Old McStinger was going to bed a little wavy the other night, and not wishing to listurb Mrs. McStirger, who has a tongue like a ret-tail file, he thought it just as well not to turn on the gas. He got on very well until he reached the door of the chamber where h's patient wife lay sleeping. Here he paused a moment balancing on his heels like a pole cn a uggler's nose. Then he made a dash for t, in order to make a bee line across the plary fortitude, had placed the rocking chair with such gifted skill that no man ning over it; so the first thing he knew, John Labatt, London, Ale and Porter, McStinger stubbed his toe nail off against the rocker, which knocked the seat against the crazy bone of his knee, and made one of the long arms prod him in the stomach. Simul aneously he fell over behind his back before he could get up The engagement was now fully opened. When a man begins fal ing over rocking chairs in a dark room, he ought always to have three days' rations and forty rounds. Before McStinger could get up straight his knee came down on one of the long rockers behind, and the back-of the chaircame down on his head with a whack that laid him out flat on the floor, and before he could move the chair kicked him Muirhead & Gray, London, Oatmeal, three times in the tenderest part of his ribs with the sharp end of the rocker This made him perfectly furious, and he scrambled up and made a blind rush at the chair, determined to blow up the ene-Wheels, Spokes. Felloes and Buggy hubs, my's works. He ran square against the back, and it rocked forward with him, turning a complete somersault over the handles, throwing McStinger half-way across the room and landing on top of him digging into his abdomen like a bull's side. It would have been a good thing for McStinger if he had lain still then and let the ch ir have its own way.

It lay flat on its back, the long points of the rockers seem to want to do anything active just Ancaster Knitting Company, Knitting then. But Mr. McStinger couldn't make up his mind to give it up yet. He rolled over sideways and upset the chair. John Knott & Sons, Hamilton, Piano. fell with a crash on its side, giving him furious dig in the liver, which made him straighten out his legs spasmodically, The Mudge & Yarwood Manufacturing barking one shin from the instep to the knee on the rocker which hung in the air, and getting the chair on its feet again, where it stood rocking backward and for McCrea & Co., Guelph, Knitting Goods | ward at him, like a wary old ram making feints of bucking its adversary, in order Skelliugton & Brother, Windsor, Hides | to throw him off his guard. The blow in the side nearly finished McStinger, and while lying there rubbing his wind back again, he was just beginning to reflect whether his honour required him to proceed any further in the affair, when Mrs. McStinger suddenly began screaming all the names in the crimes act, under the impression that the Charley Ross abductors were trying to commit a burglary, bigamy, robbery, and everything else on

Up to this time she had been speech less with terror, and had lain there trembling, shedding perspiration, and accumulating shricking power, until she had gained the screaming capacity of a camel back engine. She had just reached he third sforzando fortissimo accelerandor, when old MoStinger succeeded in getting to his feet once more, and became dimly J. R. Armstrong, Toronto, Cooking visible to Mrs. McStinger. With one last wild parting shrick she sprang from the J. Bruce & Co., Toronto, Photographic bed and made a dash for the door, near which the rocking chair still stood menacing the whole universe with a butting motion. Mrs. McStinger had no time for investigation just then, and she pitche l into and over the rocking chair and clear on down stairs, the chair after her, over and over, and kicking Mrs. McStinger every bump, until they both landed the hall below, where the chair broke all to atoms. This ended the fight. If wives will learn from this sad story around the middle of the room for their poor husbands to fall over, we shall not have written in vain.
