The latter (referring to the conferences held at Cologne and Bonn) said with a fervour which deeply stirred the feelings of his audience, "surely the dawn is brightening in the East; between us and Rome there lay an impassable barrier, but from the Eastern Churches we were divided by three words only." Bishop Lewis in advocating the unity of the Church said :-" The apostolic principle will ensure to us all that we ought to demand, substantial unity with circumstantial variety (or half a dozen creeds in one Church, as Bishop Lewis has before admitted to be the case in his Church).
