The Times, in a leading article on the enrally associate as acts of the British Ministry; we seem to trace in it the business hand of Mr. Disraeli. The nation wakes up this morning to find that it has Eastern policy. We have no desire for Dr. Sanderland offered an extension of territory; we have not coveted the land of the Nile, since Firman to make no change, but should insurrec- to order, tion or intrigue, aggression from without or corruption within, bring a political as well as a financial collapse to the Turkish Empire, it might become necessary to take measures for the security of that part of the dominions of the Sultan with which we are mostly nearly concerned, and an acquisition of so commanding an interest in the Suez Canal, and interest which must inevitably increase-will lead the Government and people of the country to concern themselves habitually with Egypt.

The Khedive's shares in the Suez Canal, according to an old arrangement with the Canal Company received no dividend for nineteen years; consequently, their unconditional purchase by the British Government would, in a pecuniary sense be wholly unprofitable for that time, but a Reuter telegram from Cairo, states that Egypt has agreed to pay to Great Britain 5 per cent. on the amount
