In alluding to the $19,000 debt from the Agricultural Society, he said that at he last meeting of the Council, he had suggested that the grounds of the society handed over to the city for show puroses and a public park. He looked upon the land as being worth $2,000 per acre, and the buildings cost $18,000. There were 27 acres in all, and $19,000 was little enough for it; he strongly ad vocated the purchase of the grounds, as be a most valuable assets.

Ald. CHRISTIE then addressed the meeting, and after stating that it was not his intention to again seek the suffrages of tre electors of the ward, but he must confess that he did not take the same gloomy view of the financial condition of the city, and he could not see that there was any chance of its going into bankruptcy He looked upon Ald. Ald. WALLES could not agree with Ald Rowe. All he had told them was that if 15,000 00 the properties he had mentioned were seized upon by the Sheriff they would realise the sums named. Now they could not realise upon the bridges or the main sewer, and who in thunder would buy the City Hall if it was put up for sale? (Laughter.) It was all nonsense to regard hose works in the light of assets. Ald. PRATT attributed all the blame of the indebtedness of the city to the bad management of the Finance Committee. Ald.
