MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC

The German Concert to take place in lowen's Hall on the 12th instant, will be a very interesting one. The choruses will be sung in costume by young German children, with coloured lights to lend effect to the scenes. Apart from this and other novelties which will be introduced. a number of the best city amateurs will assist at the concert. Mrs. Knight, with her usual energy, has taken the arrangement in hand, and, without doubt, a most attractive and musically successful entertainment may be expected.

The Inez Fernandez Concert takes place in Gowan's Opera House on the 4th instant. Mile Fernandez is a pianiste as well as a vocalist, and is said to be Must be possessed of unusual abilties. Her recent concert at the Shaftesbury Hall, l'oronto, drew a crowded audience, up wards of 14,000 persons being present. Her performances on that occasion were of a highly appreciative nature, and are said to be highly finished and artistic. A treat of unusual excellence will be afforded the people of Ottawa, in witnessing this lady's efforts, and it is to be hoped she will be greeted with a bumper house. The management should see and put the prices at rates which will enable every one to attend.

The Choral Union held another successful practice last evening. The choruses are now in good form, and will, no doubt, be successfully performed at the coming coming concert.

The Concert in aid of the Dorcas Society of St. Joseph's Church, takes place in Gowan's Hall on Wednesday, the 6th instant, when the St. Joseph's Choir and several amateurs will assist.

A GOOD MAN GONE. - Few of the ceased business men who have lived on ! THE the Ottawa River have left a better example and influence than the late Mr. Donald A. McDonald, for twenty years a resident of North Nation Mills. He entered business as clerk with Messrs. Gilmour & Co., of the city of Ottawa, and later, when the North Nation mills were built, he was placed in charge of that which he has adorned his profession with a walk and conversation becoming to the OYSTER Gospel. He was a thorough business man, of great energy and quiet power and penetration, always regulated by a supreme regard for what was deemed to be the right, and this principle he made Best Served and Best Cooked obvious to all with whom he came in contact. To say that he was in favour worthy, it received at once his warm symcircumstances in the management of business could he be led to violate principle. The best interests of the men employed by the concern, whether in the woods or in the mills, were never lost sight of, and especially was he solicitous for their right to the Sabbath, and so far as lay in his power, that they should be exempt from temptation by intoxicating liquors. With these views he used his influence for many years past towards extending the circulation of the Montreal Witness and through his efforts it has come with light and blessing to many homes on the banks of the Ottawa, and among the shantymen in the forest, Perhaps his last request before his death was of a friend whom he asked to look after the of one of the noblest streams in the subscribers of this paper in that place. with regard to the renewal of their sub scriptions, it being the close of the year, at which time he had been accustomed to kindly collect from them and remit to us without asking for any remuneration for his trouble. He was ill only a few days, during which time the light that had long been brightening "shone more
