This gentleman is a painstaking young actor, and with a little more experience and cultivation of the niceties of the dramatic and operatic art, will make his mark in the profession. "Beppo" and "Giacomo" were represented respective y by Mr. Ellis Ryse and Mr. A. D. Holman respectively. The former gentleman sang "The Waif" splendidly, the song being admirably adapted to his unusually rich bass voice. Between the opera and the burlesque, "Black Eye'd Susan," Miss Ida Carpenter danced a pas de seul in a style which fairly brought down the house. She received an enthusiastic encore, to which she responded. The young lady is a most graceful danseuse, and her personal charms are on a par with her graceful movements. The burlesque sent every one home in a good humour, and many wishes for a speedy return of the company were expressed. THE SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD. -An entertainment was given last night in
