THE SENATE YESTERDAY.

In the Senate vesterday, Hon. Mr. Kaulbach asked for a statement showing the work performed by the Government steam dredge Canadian during the past year. Hon. Mr. Scott promised to bring down the necessary information. Hou. Mr. Girard moved for copies of all in structions to Lieut. Governor Morris also copies of all Orders in Council relative to the said territories since their organization not already published; also official correspondence between Lieut. Governor Morris and the Dominion Government, from the date of his appointment. He paid a high compliment to the Northwest Council for the manner in which they had served the country. Hon. Mr. Letellier said there was no brought down, but it was too voluminous for printing, and parts of it were not of sufficient public interest. Hon Mr. Government for not taking advantage of the power conferred on them last session by Pa-lisment, to put the country to the railway policy on the part of the Govern ment, and direct communication with the Northwest, were necessary before a suffi cient immigration would ensue to make a new Government necessary there. Hon. knack-not always a happy one-of Mr. Lettellier in a courteous manner thanked Mr. Alexander for the first part of his remarks, but rejected the latter. Hon. Mr. Bottsford moved for correspondence respecting the investigation into the conduct of the Postmaster at Sackville. The Government promised to give such information, if it were in their possession. The usual formal steps were taken on the petition of Robert Campbell, of Whitby, Ont., praying for a divorce from his wife, Eliza Maria Byrne, after which the House

He taxed Mr. Mitchell with setting up his individual opinion against that of the highest legal authority, and also with having increased the tax upon salmon from 50c, to $ without asking the synction of Parliament at all, an awkward fix which Mr. Mitchell was forced to acknowledge. Mr. Smith showed that the position now taken by bim was exactly the same as that taken by his hon. friend opposite, and which would have been followed out had he re mained in office, and accused him on his own words of showing partiality to the fishermen of his own country by not en forcing the tolls required by the regula tions. He concluded an able refutation of the charges made by Mr. Mitchell by challenging the most thorough and comhim of popularity hunting, but admittemendation of officers of the service Ultimately the discussion was ended just as the Honse rose for recess, by Mr. Mitchell agreeing to take out the word " arbitrary" from the motion as originally

Atter recess, the House was chiefly occupied with a discussion of a rather acri monious character raised by Dr. Tupper on a motion to refer copies of correspondence relating to the refund of duties to the Great Western Railway Company to the Printing Committee. In speaking to the motion Dr. Tupper, as is not unusual with him, made some violent assertions having manufactured correspondence, and with having suppressed some of the most essential parts of the correspondence reon several subjects neither of which excited much interest, though a company he was the President. He did Rheims no one of the jackdaw of Rheims no one of the excited much interest, though a not then manifest the intense anxiety worse. For our own part, we think that G. tween Hon. Several members also motion, and a number on the Ministerial side rather against it. The adjournment of the debate was moved by Mr. Mills, and after a little opposition, was carried. The House then adjourned, it being half past eleven o'clock.

CUSTOMS REFUNDS.

Not content with the castigation he received at the hands of the Premier in North Refrew, on the subjust of Customs Refunds to the Great Western Railway, Dr. Tupper revived the question in the House of Commons last night, by moving tlesh off his bones last night. Mr. Blake also spoke for the first time, at least in cess a little farther, he scattered the mutilated fragments of Dr. Tupper's arguments to the four winds.
