Heart-shaped cake for Valentine's Day

by Shirley Whittington
Did I hear somebody say Valentine's Day was for kids? Fiddlesticks. It's for anybody that feels romantic.

If you're feeling creative as well as romantic; you could consider a heart shaped cake which is possible even if you don't have a pan that shape.

Just make a square cake, and while it's baking, cut a heart out of a folded piece of paper the same size as the cake tin. Pop the cake out on a board, cool it, cut around the paper pattern and presto - you're a heart specialist.

Pink icing looks good and lends itself to decorative piping in chocolate. You can use a cake decorating tube if you're one of the privileged classes. Otherwise, you can make do with a small plastic bag, one corner of which you have snipped with the scissors.

And here's an easy candy recipe that the kids can make for their Valentines. They aren't heart shaped, but they're so good nobody cares.

Lightly grease a baking sheet and preheat the oven to 350.

Combine 1/2 cup heavy cream with 3 tablespoons granulated sugar. Stir in 1/2 cup flour, 1/4 pound chopped candied cherries, 1/3 cup blanched slivered almonds. Drop batter from a teaspoon about 2 inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated 350 oven for 10 minutes.

Cool. When cool, spread with melted sweet chocolate, or a little chocolate icing.

If you present these to a sweet toothed friend, I guarantee he/she will consent to be your Valentine.

Maybe ten or twenty years ago those words struck fear in the heart of a person sitting in the dentist's chair. But, this no longer is the case, for modern day dentistry is really easier to take. One important reason is the emphasis on prevention of dental problems before they occur.

If you follow his advice very carefully and get your check-ups on a regular basis chances are that most of your visits with the dentist will just be a pleasant stop in one of your otherwise busy days.

Dances, card party, science fair and carnival coming up

by Marg Alberts
It has been six weeks ago that we all pulled out the stops and had a grand time during the festive season. Since then, we have shovelled snow and shovelled snow - and for variety we have shovelled some more of the white stuff.

Now it is time to put on our best bib and tucker and have a ball. Midland's referral centre, Contact, will hold a Valentine's Ball this Friday, Valentine's Day, at the Midland Civic Centre, on Yonge Street. It promises to be a gala affair.

Dress is semi-formal, and ladies, if you can still fit into your wedding dress, you are invited to do just that and wear it to the ball. When you slide into your husband's arms, he will whisper to the music of Tommy Crowe and his band: "Have I told you lately that I love you?", befitting the theme of the Ball.

The King and Queen of Hearts will host the event, which opens with the grand march at approximately 8:30 p.m.

There will be special favours for the ladies, door prizes, spot dances, and a midnight buffet. All of this for just $14 per couple. If you plan to go with a large party, or come in couples, call Contact for reservations and tickets at 526-9333.

Dance-a-thon Feb. 21.

More on the dance scene. Students of St. Theresa's High School invite all the students of the area to participate in the second annual Dance-A-Thon, Friday, February 21, starting at 8 p.m. and for the hearty, ending the following evening at 8. There will be 18 hours of live music, provided by as many as four bands. Participating will be The Cousins, Barrel Works Five, Six Pack and Blackwater. Three free meals will be served to the dancers. To be a participant, you must have a minimum sponsorship of $2 per hour. Proceeds from the dance will help pay for social and athletic activities at St. Theresa's.

Seniors' tea and bake sale

There is more to come! The Penetanguishene Senior Citizens will hold a tea, bazaar and bake sale on Valentine's Day. This event will start at 1:30 and last until all the articles are sold. It will be held at the Georgian Manor, on Harriet Street in Penetanguishene.

MSS Frosty Frolics Friday

And that is not all. To promote a better and closer relationship between teachers and students, the Midland Secondary School will once again celebrate Frosty Frolics, this Friday. A lot of planning goes into this event each year, and every year the school has a bigger and better program. Some of the events to participate in are skating at the arena, curling, a six hour snowmobile trip on the beautiful Georgian Bay trails, indoor sports, the selection of a Snow Queen, a snow sculpture contest and a road hockey tournament. The MSS Saints will play their last regular season hockey game, and are confident that they can beat the opposing team from Flesherston to clinch a playoff berth. Starting time for the game is 2:30 p.m. at the Midland arena.

Quota card party tonight

For card playing enthusiasts, the Quota Club of Huronia will hold a card party tonight, Wednesday, February 12, at Burkvale School in Penetanguishene. The games will start at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Tickets will be sold at the door at $1.50.

Huron Park science fair

The students at Huron Park School are inviting parents and neighbours in the community to attend their first Science Fair. They have been working hard to construct science displays for your enjoyment. The event is to take place all day on Thursday February 13. The gymnasium will be open in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evenings. Also, don't forget the public speaking contest for the area 3 students, to be held February 24 at Huron Park School.
