Environment biologist the guest of Hunters and Anglers

by Bryan Berriault
Mr. Denis M. Veal senior biologist, technical support section of the Ministry of the Environment gave the members of the Georgian Bay Hunters and Anglers some insight into what causes pollution last week. Although Veal did say Midland Park Lake (Little Lake) was at the present time in fairly good shape, he did emphasize that his statement related to present growth. If build-up of the drainage area did continue, it would surely be the main factor contributing to pollution.

Veal went on to say that storm sewers, sea gulls and man himself were the main reasons for the present standards of Little Lake. Questions dealing with weed growth were asked during Veal's talk on Little Lake to which he stated that last summer was one of the best years for the survival of these weeds with many other lakes having the same problem.

Veal went on to show slides depicting certain types of pollution. The green scum, that is pollution, comes also in red and yellow colors as well. Some lakes with a heavy weed growth are now being cut and harvested with hope of using the dried weeds for possibly animal feed of some sort. He went on to show slides of insects that live in our lake and told the members that a lot can be learned about the quality of the water by the insects and bacteria that live in such water. The wild game supper attracted one of the largest crowds to attend a meeting. Veal's talk was reported in the monthly bulletin and it was felt that his visit warranted the large turn-out at this meeting.

There was a spark of hope for the Georgian Bay Hunters and Anglers. Regardless of the views of some members, a new committee is in the process of being set up. The new committee is called simply the Conservation Committee with its sole purpose being to further conservation work throughout our area. All members of the Hunters and Anglers were asked to suggest any projects.

Chairman Ludwig Shaus, with his vast experience in the club, will no doubt be a great asset to the committee. At the present time there are a total of 16 members on the new committee and it is felt there will be more in the future. The Conservation Committee though hardly off the ground has already created mixed feelings throughout the club. Regardless of these feelings chairman Ludwig Shaus and his committee will overcome all obstacles, to further conservation in our area through the Georgian Bay Hunters and Anglers and its members.
