From "Civilization" series

Special evening series offered at Saint Marie

Civilization and Sainte-Marie among the Hurons is the theme of a special evening series offered free at Sainte-Marie May 13 to 25.

The programs are mainly films from the Kenneth Clark series "Civilization" which explores "ideas and beliefs through the arts of painting, architecture, sculpture, philosophy, poetry, music, science..."

Completing the series will be a speaker night May 18, at which an author will discuss French-American cultural contact and an open house at Sainte-Marie May 16. Clark's interpretation of art forms and how they reflect philosophies of their time periods, have drawn large audiences for his television series "Civilization". Three sets of his films exploring European art, architecture and engravings; the religious struggle in Europe; and the age of reason and economics will be shown in the Sainte-Marie theatre, Highway 12, east of Midland, May 13, 22 and 25. All evening sessions will be from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

The speaker, Cornelius Jaenen is a history professor at the University of Ottawa and an author of several books including "Friend and Foe: Aspects of French-American Cultural Contact in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries". The manuscript won the prestigious Sainte-Marie Prize in 1973 for original research on 17th century Canada.

Prof. Jaenen will discuss the French-native relationship and why he believes it was not the friendly, cooperative association depicted in French history. Signed copies of Jaenen's book will be available for sale.

The open house at Sainte-Marie Sunday, May 16, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., provides an opportunity for visitors to see a representation of a European community operating on the edge of a frontier. Admission for that day is free.

Sainte-Marie's time period was 1639 to 1649 when the Society of Jesus was dispatching missionaries around the world to teach Christianity. In New France, Sainte-Marie represented the first bold step into the interior of Canada. Though it was doomed as it was built due to vicious trade wars between the Huron and Iroquois, Sainte-Marie thrived, and in 10 years, craftsmen built more than 20 buildings.

The mission residence has been reconstructed on the original site next to the Wye River. Every summer more than 140,000 visitors explore the past by exploring the site. The regular season opens May 22.

The full schedule is: Tuesday, May 11 - Clark's "Gothic World of Renaissance" European art, architecture and engraving.

Sunday, May 16 - OPEN HOUSE, Sainte-Marie among the Hurons.

Tuesday, May 18 -

Cornelius Jaenen - aspects of the French-American cultural contact.

Saturday, May 22 - Clark's "Reformation and Counter-Reformation" the religious struggle in Europe.

Tuesday, May 25 - Clark's "The Age of Reason and Economics" the state of learning which effected Europe's and the New World's development.

Everyone is welcome to one or all of the programs. Admission is free.

Like Father — Like Fun

In a scene from Eric Nicol's Like Father, Like Fun P.R. man Ron Webster (Richard Gorell) engages in some personal public relations with his boss' wife, Mary Clark (May Williams).

What happens when a father attempts to mature his son by introducing him to a woman of the world? Plenty. And it's all funny — so funny that members of Midland's Huronia Players are still breaking up at the lines they've been rehearsing for two months.

Like Father, Like Fun is the name of the play. Written by Vancouver humourist and columnist Eric Nicol, it provides a hilarious look at modern morality.

John Hudson plays the concerned father, Cameron Clark Sr., and his stage son, Cameron Jr., is played by Doug Cameron. Richard Gorell plays a public relations executive, and May Williams has the role of Mary Clark. Jillian Walsh is played by Nancy Penny.

Director Joan Hanna is no stranger to the play. She herself played Mary Clark in a summer season at Huron Playhouse.

According to Joan, the playrehearsals have been great fun. There was only one problem. One scene calls for a ticker tape machine, and the Players, with customary ingenuity tried to construct one from an old adding machine.

Midland investment counsellors Goulding Rose and Turner saved the day with the loan of a real ticker tape machine.

Like Father, Like Fun is the last play of the season. On Wednesday night, there will be a dress rehearsal for an invited audience of theatre arts students from local secondary schools.

The play runs Fridays and Saturdays, May 7, 8, 14 and 15.

And the only one who hasn't got a funny line is the ticker tape machine.
