Victoria Harbour Fun Fair

There are several ways that school children can raise money but perhaps one of the most enjoyable ways is the Fun Fair like the one held by Victoria Harbour Public School on Saturday.

a grade eight trip to Niagara Falls with the fun fair money as well as financing other school projects.

"In our fund raising we want to give the students something for their money," explained Len Cleland, a grade eight teacher.

The Fun Fair ran from 11 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon and it would take about that long to visit all the events. It's estimated a couple hundred students participated in the fair and there was lots for them to do.

The events included a hockey shoot, a basketball throw, a fish pond, a horror house, a dart throw at balloons plus a tournament and a bowling game. In addition there was a white elephant sale, a miniature golf game, a bake sale, a refreshment stand and a craft lottery.

The students ran the events and things went pretty smoothly because the school held a fun fair in the fall so much of the organization had already been thought out.

The success of the last fun fair was spent on several new microscopes for the school and a remedial reading center. This year the school plans
