

Call Contact

526-9333

Hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Monday to Friday (Except Holidays)

It is indeed good to return to the offices of Contact after a few weeks of battling the flu bugs. A special thanks to my kind and concerned friends who helped keep my spirits up with their cards and good wishes.

As it is for most people away on holidays, (even a forced one like mine), you find your desk piled high with papers and unanswered mail when you return. Now that I have had time to sort through the mess I would like to share with you some of Contact's problems that need your help in solving.

Housing rates again as our greatest need. The requests we receive for rooms or rooms with board we cannot help as we have so few in our files to give out. Small apartments are also needed so please if you have accommodations do call Contact at 526-9333 so we may fill some of the more urgent requests on our books for housing.

Another note I found was a Consumer Complaint and this I want to share with you so you, the readers of this column, and the consumer will not fall prey to phony advertising by telephone. Some of these calls sound like a request to aid a needy cause such as handicapped people, but on further investigation it is found that it is a phony charity scheme. We want to help consumers distinguish between worthwhile charities and profit making organizations which disguise themselves as charities. Contact has on hand bulletins that outline the more prevalent unethical operations such as donations requests, ticket sales for circuses and parties and merchandise sold ostensibly for charitable purposes. If you are approached with a doubtful call do not be taken in or send money off without further investigation. Get all the information you can from the caller and then either investigate it yourself or call Contact at 526-9333 and we can search it out for you.

Due to the popularity and requests from interested parents the pre-school education course is going to be run again. This will be the third session, this valuable learning experience has been given. Unfortunately, the location has had to be changed from the YMCA to Parkview Public School. This course will start on Wednesday, April 12 at 10 a.m. and the registration fee is $5. If further information or if you wish to register, call Contact at 526-9333 and we will endeavour to help you.

Happiness is helping others to help themselves.

Mary M. Gibson,
Administrator.

Seminar

A seminar on funding is being held at Ste. Marie Among the Hurons on April 29 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and hosted by the Midland Historical Society.

Registration for the course is $2 and can be arranged through the manager of Ste. Marie, Bill Byrick.

We goofed, there's another one

Several weeks ago The Times reprinted an article about a new secretarial service opening in the area.

We also said it was the only one of its kind in the area.

Well, we hate to admit it, but we were wrong. Barbara Adamson, of RR4 Coldwater, is already in business and is equipped to handle any type of office work including pick-up and delivery of materials.

Mrs. Adamson will also take dictation off the telephone do multi-copy work, electronic stenciling and photocopying.
