

Call Contact

526-9333

Hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Monday to Friday (Except Holidays)

With the beginning of summer and the beautiful warm weather my mind seemed to pull a blank as I sat with my pencil and paper and truly wondered what to write this week.

With the excitement of the Centennial Festivities growing, Contact offices and phones ring on and continue to serve the many callers with the appropriate referrals and information each caller requires, but the calls in the summer months seem to change somewhat, especially with the influx of summer residents and tourists. It is most gratifying to know that Contact is used not just by the permanent residents but also by our many summer visitors. Most summer callers want to know "where to find", "how do I get to" and "what is going on this weekend." As with any other call the questions are quickly answered but if Contact does not have the answer right at their finger tips the research is promptly done and handed on to the caller. Everyone is welcome to call Contact at 526-9333 with any and all questions and we will have the information you require.

Some calls are about the different Centennial celebrations and festivities and although Contact is a mere infant in the history of Midland, the staff of Contact is growing in knowledge along with the heritage of the town. Contact is an integral part of the community and so on behalf of the Board of Directors and the staff of Contact we wish to congratulate Midland on this their Centennial year.

Happiness is helping others to help themselves.

Non-fiction

The Immigrants. Montero. Gloria Montero has created a book in the oral tradition, distilled from more than 400 conversations, when she asked immigrants about life in their adopted country.

Enola Gay. Thomas and Witts. The story of the bombing of Hiroshima, the momentous flight of the B-29 Enola Gay has never before been revealed from firsthand sources. The authors had extensive interviews with participants both American and Japanese.

G. Howard Ferguson: Ontario Tory. Oliver. As Premier of Ontario from 1923 to 1930, G. Howard Ferguson was one of the most successful and colourful Canadian politicians of his time.

The Solar Home Book. Anderson. Heating, cooling and designing with the sun.

Fiction

The Dark Lady. Auchincloss. The offices, penthouses and suburban chateaux of New York are the setting for this new book by Louis Auchincloss. Spanning three decades from the 1930s to the McCarthy era, the novel chronicles a powerful woman's rise and the human toll it exacts.

In Gallant Company. Kent. Told with power and skill, Alexander Kent's latest book about the eighteenth-century Royal Navy, follows "Sloop of War", his most widely acclaimed novel.

Transatlantic Blues. Sheed. Wilfrid Sheed explores the reality of an internationally celebrated television personality, Monty Chatworth, on one of his many flights between England and New York.

The Second Deadly Sin. Against a background of the New York art scene, Lawrence Sanders unveils a gripping tale of urban violence and detection.

Student Manpower

by Ruth Lamoureux

What a relief! The interview is over. Now you, the student, can sit back, relax and wait for the answer. Wrong. There's one more step - make one followup call.

The followup call is the telephone contact made with the employer following the interview. Your key question, "Has a decision been made?" The call is initiated by the student and shows the employer that you have initiative and are really interested in the job.

If no decision has been made then politely thank the employer and sit back. Don't make more than one call. Several calls will only annoy the interviewer and slow down the selection process. Have you got a summer job? If not follow the simple steps outlined in these articles and you'll be on the road to successful job finding.

Don't believe what they tell you about immigration.

A lot of people have some pretty strange ideas about Canada's immigration law. And, as a result, a lot of people suffer from believing them.

The fact is, the most reliable information comes from us. In other countries, we're in Canadian Government visa offices. Here at home, it's your Canada Immigration Centre.

If you know someone who'll have to pass through Canadian Immigration in the near future, you'd be doing them a favour by pointing them in our direction. Especially now that there's a new immigration law.

Now, the new law doesn't mean a lot of changes for the average immigrant or visitor. Here, nevertheless, are a few things that might affect you or someone you know.

From now on, immigrants and those visitors who come here to work or study must make all immigration arrangements before arriving in Canada. No one may change his or her status while inside Canada.

Remember that money can't buy your way into Canada. All the help you need is free at any Canadian Government visa office or Canada Immigration Centre.

Canadian immigration officers do not discriminate on the grounds of colour, race or religion. Ever.

A new adjudication system gives greater protection to the civil rights of people involved in immigration proceedings. And deportation will no longer be the only possible penalty. There are now less drastic alternatives for minor infractions of immigration law. The new law does not make immigration easier, but it does make it more predictable. If you need to know more, ask at a Canada Immigration Centre.

If you know someone abroad who needs information, tell them to contact their Canadian Government visa office before they make a move. That way, they'll know exactly where they stand when they step off the plane.
