Local PCs fired up after key convention

Delegates from Simcoe East returned home from the three day Ontario Progressive Conservative Party's annual convention with a warning to prepare for a possible provincial election.

Premier William Davis gave the warning during a keynote address to 2,000 delegates at the Saturday evening banquet at the Sheraton Hotel in Toronto.

He said that although he intends to complete the mandate to govern given to the party in 1977, the "irresponsible actions" of the Liberal opposition under Stuart Smith, an election may be forced earlier.

Davis blasted the Liberals for their lack of direction in attempting to bring down the government through motions of non-confidence, such as against the recent budget.

The federal Liberals also came under fire when Davis told his audience that Foreign Affairs Minister MacGuigan was not speaking for Ontario residents when he recently criticized the United States over their foreign policy.

Local delegates attending the convention as well as Simcoe East MPP Gordon Smith and his wife Jean, were President David Edwards, Allan Byers, Debra Crawford and Grace Lamb of Orillia and Gladys Dale from Coldwater along with Fred Hacker and Barb Hacker of Midland.

Doug Lewis, MP of Simcoe North also attended as a delegate at the convention.

One of the highlights of the convention was the cabinet availability sessions where delegates through appointments were able to meet with members of the cabinet to discuss matters of interest.

Two former Midlanders are in new wave group

The witty, twisted, universal, MOR New Wave band ERECT will be performing at the Civic Center in Midland tonight and tomorrow evening.

Being highly influenced by English humour, they are receiving a phenomenal response for their energetic, well-rehearsed performances.

The building of ERECT began about a year ago.

The band came of age recently in Toronto and judging by the dynamite response from the crowds their hard work and months of perseverance have paid off.

Credit should be given to the five member band, who always thrill their audiences.

Spokesman Andy Camp is the keyboard genius, who received an honours level scoring in the Royal Conservatory theory exams.

Angela, Andy's wife, has one of the best set of vocal chords in Canada.

Angela's brother, Peter Molloy is often referred to as MR. FOUNDATION for his solid bass performances and MR. COLUMBO for his newly-acquired private eye licence.

Outstanding vocalist Carla is so totally absorbed in the music that she is the PUNK of the band. Known as the soccer and orange juice fanatic, drummer Joe Dind was imported from England because of his musical expertise. Angela and Peter (Molloy) are both former Midlanders which makes this group extra special.

It may not be Broadway, but...

If you've always wanted to be an actor or actress, Studio Night next Wednesday (June 18) will be right up your alley.

As another season comes to a close for members of Huronia Players in Midland, members are encouraging their non-acting members to become actors and directors for the night.

The "experimental evening" has been slated for Sacred Heart School Midland starting at 8 p.m. Oops, curtain goes up at 8 p.m.
