When you have an important real estate decision to make, you need expert real estate advice.

Where should you turn?

To a company with nearly 70 years' experience in all kinds of real estate?

To one that staffs over 2600 of the most professional and highly trained residential agents in the business?

To one that handles tens of thousands of home transactions every year?

To one that can help you sell your home, buy a new one or even rent, and do it quickly and painlessly?

To one that deals in properties from carriage trade homes to condominiums, from starter homes to farmland?

To one that's large and national in scope?

To one that's large enough to handle entire corporate relocations?

To one that can help you move to the next street, or, through a referral service, to the next province or even the U.S.A.?

To one that can provide an expert valuation of your home and recommend a realistic price?

To one that can find you a choice of mortgage financing?

To one that has a guaranteed sales plan?

To one that's considered Canada's best because of its people and the pride they have in their company?

To one that's known as the industry leader through strong national advertising?

So where should you turn?

To a company that has it all, of course.
