Still wants to use centre

Midland's Concerned Parents of Youths, in a letter to council this week, have again asked for permission to use the Yonge Street Civic Centre.

C.P.Y. would like to use the facility as a drop-in centre from noon to midnight each Saturday.

Their letter is to be turned over to both the town's public safety committee and the civic centre board for further study. Meanwhile Midland Jaycees plan to host a kick-off dinner for civic officials and the local media on Aug. 28.

At that time the local service club will outline a project it plans to undertake called "Save a Life Campaign."

The project's goal is to raise funds to buy rescue equipment for Midland Fire Department.
