

Police didn't have to go far for accident

On OPP's doorstep

In the left photo is the MacDonald car after it was removed from the scene of the accident. Right is the transport cab and piggy-back trailer in the ditch in front of the Midland OPP office.

Two young girls received minor injuries in a car and truck collision that almost literally occurred on the doorstep of the OPP last Friday afternoon.

Mary Cadeau, 7, and Kimberly Wright, 11, both of Hayes Street, Port McNicoll, were two of four passengers in a car driven by Donna Marie MacDonald, also of Hayes Street.

MacDonald was northbound on Highway 27 just north of Hugel Street in Midland and starting to turn left when her car was struck in the rear by a transport cab pulling a flatbed trailer with a load of fibreglass boats.

Both vehicles were in the passing lane.

MacDonald's car was spun around in a circle and stopped pointing south in the southbound lane of Highway 27. The truck ended up in the ditch in front of the OPP office on the west side of the highway.

MacDonald, 35, has been charged with operating an uninsured vehicle.

The truck driver, Robert Andrews, 17, of RR 4, Niagara-on-the-Lake, has been charged with not having a Class A operator's licence.

The truck is the property of Andrews Trucking Ltd. of Niagara-on-the-Lake.

OPP reports Andrews applied his brakes when he saw the MacDonald car start to turn but that he failed to stop. The truck's brakes do not appear to be fully functional, police say.

Careless driving charge laid

A careless driving charge has been laid against a Tiny Township man whose vehicle left Concession 16 of Tiny around 8 a.m. Monday and hit a tree.

Winston Lemesurier, 20, of R.R. 3, Penetanguishene, the only occupant of the vehicle, was charged by Midland OPP.

Lemesurier later received treatment at a hospital for minor injuries. About $1,000 damage occurred to his vehicle, OPP say.

Water problems highlighted

Township of Tay's road's committee is to look into complaints leveled last week by Bill Ardern when he appeared before a regular meeting of township council.

Ardern showed council a drawing indicating drainage problems he has been facing along Georgian Lane in Midland Bay Woods from driveways across the road putting water onto the roadway and subsequently onto his property.
