'Servathon' set for today at high school

Midland Secondary School's students will be holding a servathon today after school in order to raise funds for athletic programs in the school.

The event will take place in the school's gymnasium.

Each participant in the servathon will serve 50 volleyballs into the opposite court where spots on the floor will be marked with mats designating different point values.

If the ball hits the mat, the server gets that point value up to a maximum of 200 points.

Pledges are on the basis of so much per point.

If you've sponsored anyone in the servathon, check the pledge sheet for the MSS stamp where they return to collect their money.
