

Wintario means publicity

When the 165th Wintario draw is held in the Midland Civic Centre Oct. 9, five grand prizes of $100,000, and 20 prizes of $25,000 each will be given away, together with, Midland's mayor hopes, a small boost for Midland.

Mayor Moreland Lynn is the official pre-draw host for the evening. He does not expect to get on camera, but he is optimistic that Midland will get a plug in the short description of the town that is included in the half-hour live show.

Lynn is the master of ceremonies for the pre-draw period of 6:45 to 8 p.m. Local country and western singer Peter King will also appear, until host Faye Dance takes over for the live broadcast at 8 p.m.

Broadcast
The broadcast for this particular week is an hour earlier than usual and can be seen on Global Television.

The mayor says Wintario has been a long time coming to Midland. Two years ago arrangements were made to have Wintario broadcast from the town as part of the centennial celebration, but the broadcast fell through.

The whole idea of having Wintario here in Midland is to promote the community, says the mayor, who hopes there will be an opportunity to tell the viewers across the province about Midland.

Admission to the Civic Centre is $3 per person. Included is a free Wintario Ticket.

Proceeds will go to the Civic Centre building fund. Tickets are available from a booth located at the corner of King Street and Hugel Avenue in Midland.

In more than five years over $1 billion worth of government lottery tickets have been purchased.

Newest Pathfinders

The first Penetang Pathfinders will be well represented by this fine looking group of young ladies. The girls were initiated into Pathfinders at St. Ann's Church Tuesday night. From left to right

Record number of attenders present for Auxiliary meet

by Marion Sleep
A record number of members attended the September meeting of the Auxiliary to Huronia District Hospital. President Barbara Simpson welcomed 71 auxiliaries to the luncheon at the Brooklea Country Club, convened by vice-president Anne Robertson. Many new members were introduced by their auxiliary friends.

A review of successful summer activities followed by a discussion of the various fall and winter projects sparked a lively business meeting.

Projects

Financial statements presented by summer project convenors more than justified the time and work involved.

Excellent reports were given by Jennifer Chalmers (Antique Market); Jean Bonyun (Tag Day); and Mary Luke (Fall Fashion Show).

The next big project will be the "Candlelight and Wine" ball, the annual dinner-dance to be held at the Country Mill, Nov. 15. According to convenors Arlene Shouldice and Helen Redman, the dance has returned to its more popular Saturday night date. More information will be published later.

Gift Shop convenor Barbara D'Aoust thanked the many volunteers who kept the shop open and busy all summer. Tangible evidence were the two cheques presented by Mrs. D'Aoust to the general account - one on July 21 for $2,500 and one for $1,000, at the September meeting.

Committee Reports

Margaret Monteith, a recently-joined member and a past-president of the Kitchener-Waterloo hospital auxiliary, had a glowing report of the Candy Strippers, who, she said, "gave up 2,418 hours of their summer holiday time to help the staff and provide pleasant company for the patients." Mrs. Monteith, Margaret Robinson and chairman Bettv Ann Bell are planning a special October ceremony for the volunteers and their parents.

Because it is difficult to keep enough reading material on hand in the hospital, Bernie Cooper requested more supplies of Readers' Digests National Geographics etc.

Gumball mystery

Many thousands of dollars in Dominion Store Tapes were donated to the auxiliary during the summer months, but chairman Mary Luke would certainly appreciate a solution to her "great gumball mystery!"

Someone, sometime this summer left a large brown paper bag stuffed full of tapes at the hospital. When Mrs. Luke started to tabulate them, she discovered that they were from Brampton and that the back of each tape bore a child's name and estimated number of gumballs!

A guess-the-number contest? A gumball addict's collection? A mystery to which, so far, there is no answer!

Welcome Service

One of the most understated and yet the most appreciated service supplied by the auxiliary is the chronic ward visiting.

Each Monday and Thursday from 2-4 p.m., Lucy Harrington and some of her volunteers provide a pleasant social visit complete with homemade baking, to the chronic patients.

Assisting her are Marg Martin, Pat

Woods, Edna Parent, Jane Jackson, Helen Griffin, Thelma Gibbens, Marj. Mitchell and Madge Bools.

Before adjournment it was unanimously approved that vice-and re-orientation of women in the labour force."

He added, "In order to properly assess the proposed projects, I have decided to form a Local Advisory Board of individuals from throughout the constituency of Simcoe North who have an interest in the community and target groups which the projects are trying to reach.

The individuals appointed have demonstrated an interest in the community in the past and the board membership fairly represents the population distribution of the riding.

The board will consider applications with the assistance of Mrs. Gloria Tozek of Employment and Immigration and consists of Charles Hounsome, Midland; Mrs. Helen DeCarli, Midland; Mrs. Gerda Brobbin, Penetanguishene; Ray McLarney, Midland; Andy Cornelisse, Orillia; Bill Talbot, Orillia; Don McIsaac, Orillia; Norm Stinson, Rama; Herb Drover, Orillia and Helen Crawford, Orillia.
