Beef outlook appears stronger

Slaughter cattle prices in North America are expected to remain strong during the next year according to Agriculture Canada economists.

The economists anticipate that a steady improvement in beef demand by the consumer will largely offset an increase in beef supplies through 1981.

The strengthening demand for beef is largely the result of sharply higher pork prices in recent months.

Pork supplies are expected to continue to decline in coming months which will keep pork prices high and encourage consumers to buy more beef.

Earlier forecasts that beef supplies would continue to decline have not been realized. More heifers and cows have been placed on the market than previously anticipated. This is due to higher feed grain prices which have discouraged herd expansion.

Prices

If feed grain prices remain strong, as is forecast by Agriculture Canada grain economists, this will further weaken feeder cattle prices and encourage even further slaughter and higher beef supplies.

Slaughter levels are now expected to be about the same as, or slightly higher than, a year ago.

Later in 1981, slaughter levels could increase even further as the five per cent increase in the 1980 calf crop reaches the market.

However, beef demand should hold strong and maintain slaughter cattle prices.

A1 and 2 steers are expected to average $86 to $88 per hundredweight in Toronto during the last quarter of 1980 and $81 to $85 in western markets. During the first quarter of 1981, prices could average about $90 per hundredweight in Toronto.

Singers have new direction

Huronian Harmonizers program director Norm Capes orchestrated a special program of barbershop singing Tuesday night which will be the basis of a membership drive, says spokesman Harry Brown.

Capes and the group's executive, Brown said, came up with a new program that offers new music and a "more painless way" to learn it.

The group is preparing for its guest night in late November. The Ontario district champion quartet, the Four Karat Gold, are expected.
